GORDON RICHARDS RIDES HIS 100th WINNER.

ENGLAND'S CHAMPION
JOCKEY.

London, Aug. 10.—Gordon Richards, the champion jockey, to-day rode his hundredth winner of the present season on Wash Out, in the second race at Windsor.

It has taken Richards a little less than five months to ride his century of winners—an average of six winners a week.

Even with three months of the present season to run, Richards has placed himself in an unassailable position, his nearest rival, H.
Wragg, being roughly 30 points behind.

Richards was the champion jockey in 1925-7-8-9-31.

He has ridden slightly more than 700 winners during his career, and he only 23 now.

Every year for the last six years
he has had expensive retainers.
And consequently, it is reasonable to assume that he has earned £100, 000 during the last seven or eight years.

THE PRINCE IN AFRICA.

BOOK OF SPORT AND TRAVEL

The Prince of Wales has consented to the publication of the account of his sporting trips to East Africa in 1929 and 1930 contained in his private diaries. The book, which will be entitled “Sport and Travel in East Africa,” will be illustrated with photographs taken by his Royal Highness and with maps. It will be published early in the New Year by Philip Allan and Co., Limited.

It will be recollected that in the autumn of 1928 the Prince visited Kenya and Uganda, and was “on safari” in Tanganyika Territory when the illness of his Majesty the King caused the expedition to be brought to a premature close. A year later, at the beginning of 1930, the Prince sailed for South Africa, proceeded up country to Rhodesia, hunted in Kenya and Uganda again, and at the end of March went into the forests of the Belgian Congo. The following month he passed into the Sudan, and made his way down the Bahr el Jebel and White Nile to Khatoun, flying thence to Cairo.

As the object of the Prince on these hunting trips was to observe and photograph big game at close quarters in their natural surroundings and unawares, and not to form a collection of trophies, little shooting was done. His task was much facilitated by the great knowledge of the habits of big game possessed by the late Captain the Hon. Denis Finch-Hatton, who accompanied the Prince and to whom his Royal Highness pays a personal tribute.

CONVICT REIGN OF TERROR.

MEN KIDNAPPED, STABBED AND SHOT.

WHOLE U.S. STATE IN PANIC.

Granite (Oklahoma), Monday,
August 15.—The whole state of Oklahoma as well as northern Texas has been thrown into a wild panic by a desperate gang of armed convicts—described as the toughest prisoners in the State—who made an amazing escape tonight from the Granite Reformatory.

The convicts raided numerous farmhouses, threatening the inmates and demanding food.

Cars Seized.

They commandeered motor-cars to help them in their escape from the officers who had set off in pursuit.

In their wild career they shot a youth who got in their way, while a motorist who refused to give up his car quietly was stabbed.

Another motorist was kidnapped in his car and afterwards thrown out on the roadway.

In some mysterious way firearms had been smuggled into the prison.
Armed with these fifteen of the convicts surprised the wardens and terrorised them into surrendering their revolvers and opening the prison gates.

At the time of the escape the governor of the prison, who is a woman, Mrs. George Waters, was absent.

Woman Governor.

As soon as the alarm was given large parties of police and armed volunteers set off in pursuit.

Three of the convicts were recaptured, and later a fourth was also run down, but the rest are still at large.

All of them were serving sentences ranging from ten years for robbery to life terms for murder.

The convicts are believed to be fleeing in the direction of the Wichita Mountains, where they would be able to hold a considerable force at bay for a long time.

SECRET WEDDING TO
FLYING INSTRUCTOR

Viscountess Ratendone, the beautiful daughter of Sir Johnson Forbes-Robertson, the actor, and of Lady Forbes-Robertson (known on the stage as Miss Gertrude Elliott) was married secretly in London during the week end to Mr. Fredertor.

The only people at the ceremony were the bride's mother and her brother-in-law, Mr. James Hamilton, the book publisher, who married her younger sister, Miss Jean Forbes-Robertson, the actress.

Viscount Ratendone, only son of Lord Willington, Viceroy of India, was granted a decree absolute in the Divorce Court last week against the Viscountess.

Lady Ratendone, Sir Johnston's eldest daughter, was named Max-

MADRID RADIOTELEGRAPH CONFERENCE.

THE PROBLEM OF WAVELENGTHS.

The deliberations of the International Radiotelegraph Conference which opened at Madrid on September 8, will be of the utmost importance to shipping because of the re-consideration which will be given to the allocation of wireless wavelengths between the various mobile, broadcasting, and point-to-point wireless services. The article reviews the rapid growth of wireless communication of all kinds and developments leading up to the Madrid Conference.

The first commercial application of wireless was in connection with marine telegraphy, and as it is the only possible means of communication with a ship at sea once the ship has passed out of sight, it remains a vital service to all shipping. For this reason every development in the use of wireless is of the utmost importance to those lives are spent at sea; and representatives of marine wireless services will be some of the most vigilant delegates at the Madrid Conference at which other branches of wireless communication will be interested in obtaining concessions to facilitate their activities.

This is the fifth International Conference which has met to consider regulations concerning the use of wireless at sea, the earlier ones being the Berlin Conferences of 1903 and 1906, the London Conference of 1912, and the Washington Conference of 1927.

At Madrid the International Telegraph Conference, which deals with matters relating to the land and submarine telegraph and telephone services, will, for the first time, be held simultaneously with the International Radiotelegraph Conference, and one of the most important questions to be considered will be the proposal to combine the International Telegraph, Telephone, and Radiotelegraph Conventions.

Amalgamation of Two Conventions.

The first International Telegraph Conference took place at St. Petersburg in 1875 and the whole of the regulations governing international telegraph communications are based on the Convention which was the outcome of that Conference. Up till now the two Conferences dealing with line telegraphy and wireless telegraphy have met separately, and, while certain fundamental regulations dealing with the exchange of telegraph traffic which form part of the Telegraph Convention have been incorporated in the Radiotelegraph Convention, radiotelegraphy has been the subject of separate legislation. With the steps that have been taken during recent years for the merging of large cable and wireless telegraph interests, however, it has been felt that the two Conventions could usefully be amalgamated, and this will be one of the questions to be considered at Madrid.

At the Radiotelegraph Conference held in Berlin in 1903, 27 countries were represented. At the London Conference in 1912 the number had increased to 41; and at Washington in 1927 79 countries were represented.

At the earlier Conferences of 1906 and 1912 little attention was given to the use of wireless for anything but marine communication. In 1906 the possibility of its use on a large scale for point-to-point land communications does not seem to have entered into the discussion; but in the 1912 Convention this development of wireless was recognised to the extent that the high contracting parties declared that they preserved their entire liberty with regard to radiotelegraph installations not used for public correspondence between land and ships at sea, and particularly with regard to naval and military installations and to stations carrying out communication between fixed points, the only obligations admitted in regard to these stations being that they should be bound to accept distress calls and give them priority of treatment.

Early Wavelengths.

The 1906 Convention laid down that the two wavelengths of 300 and 600 metres should be used by ship stations for general correspondence and that 300 metres should be the normal wave length used. Other wavelengths between 600 and over 1,600 metres were also admitted for special purposes; but the use of waves between 600 and 1,600 metres was reserved.

In the 1912 Convention the use of the 330 and 600 metre wavelengths was confirmed, but 600 metres became the normal wavelength and an additional wavelength of 1,800 metres was chosen for long distance communication. The use of direction finding stations using a wavelength not exceeding 150 metres was also dealt with in this Convention.

During the war extensive developments took place in all fields of wireless communication and the Allies made their own regulations as to wavelengths and procedure. The use of continuous wave wireless telegraphy had been introduced and had been developed rapidly by the commercial wireless companies; and wireless telephony and direction finding had been developed. Amateur wireless experimenters who were practically non-existent before the war, came on the scene soon after it was over, their ranks being recruited from the large number of men who had been in the wireless services during the war.

Recasting the Convention.

With all these developments it became necessary to re-arrange and re-write the Radiotelegraph Convention, and to allot the available wavelengths to the various services and claimants. Prolonged negotiations took place in order to find a basis of agreement and resulted in the Conference at Washington in 1927. At this Conference, which lasted six weeks, the Radiotelegraph Convention was entirely recast, bringing within its scope all types and classes of radioelectric communications including the transmission of facsimiles which was then the most recent development of the art.

Unlike its predecessors, then, the Washington Convention takes cognizance not only of ship stations but also of all other mobile services on land and in the air; fixed land stations, including wireless beacon stations, direction finding stations, and broadcasting stations; and stations for international point-to-point communication.

Whereas, in the 1906 and 1912 Conventions the question of wavelengths was dismissed in a paragraph, in the Washington Convention of 1927 two pages are taken up with particulars relating to the allocation of wavelengths to the various services. It is interesting to note, however, that the 600 metre wavelength has appeared in all three Conventions as definitely allocated to marine service. All distress calls, in addition to general calls, are now made on this wavelength.

The Problem for Madrid.

Having regard to the thorough revision of the Convention carried out at Washington, there will probably be very little work to do at Madrid in altering regulations because those already laid down have worked so well; but a good deal of discussion is expected on the re-allocation of wavelengths.

The development of short wave communication and the phenomenal growth of broadcasting during the last few years, the narrow band of wavelengths suitable for common public use for broadcasting services and the large number of stations required to meet the public demand, has created a difficult situation which it will be the business of Madrid to attempt to solve.

As far as marine interests are concerned, it is of vital importance that they should retain the wavelengths and privileges needed for efficient communication at sea, and their claims will have particular weight because, whereas other services have alternative means of communication, by landline and submarine cable, wireless is the only available means of communication for ships and is of the utmost importance in safeguarding life and property on the high seas. The merchant navy is also largely responsible for the trade and commerce upon which the prosperity of the world depends, and care must be taken that it is not handicapped in carrying out its work.

GERMAN WIRELESS CHANGES.

RADIO AS PROPAGANDA WEAPON.

Berlin.—A highly important new factor in the coming development of German affairs is the reorganisation of the wireless.

Particularly welcome to all lovers of good music was the news last week that from henceforward the subsidy, given to the Berlin Philharmonic from the Ministry of Culture was to be made dependent upon this orchestra giving regular radio concerts.

In other German cities important municipal orchestras have been called upon to co-operate in the same manner, and opera houses will receive subsidies on the same understanding. This implies that in future the money accruing to the Ministry of Posts from wireless licences will be directed in part into other channels. It also means that in future Germany's musical life is no longer to be regarded as divided into public performances for the rich and wireless for the poor, but that the State will see to it that both are served from the same sources.

More important still are the negotiations in progress which limit the powers of the federal States in regard to their own regional transmitter. Radio is now regarded as so powerful a method of propaganda that the central Government at Berlin intends to gain a firmer hold upon stations (Continued at foot of next column.)

ROBOT SETS ADVANTAGES.

AUTOMATIC VOLUME CONTROL.

It was very natural to think that when the knobs of the wireless set had been reduced to three—one for tuning, one for regulating the volume and one for operating the wave-change switch—there could be no further advance towards simplification. During the coming season there will be certain A.C. mains sets in which the volume control knob is no longer required, since the apparatus automatically adjusts the volume of its loudspeaker to the required level.

Automatic volume control, as it is called, is not likely to be seen in any but mains-operated sets, and then only in a few of the biggest of them. When the set is first installed the user tunes in the local station and then either makes (or has made for him by the man from the wireless shop) an adjustment which brings the volume down to the level which is most pleasant for the reception of the programmes. He can then make a wireless tour of Europe, and every station within loudspeaker range of the set will come in with the same volume as the local.

"FADING" NUISANCE.

Another great advantage of automatic volume control is found when a station is fading. Every reader must be familiar with this wireless nuisance. With an ordinary set, a signal from a distant station is roaring in at one moment, but almost silent a little later on. When automatic volume control is fitted the set adjusts its own magnification to suit the strength of the signal.

Automatic volume control is accomplished by means of an extra valve working in conjunction with variable-mu screen-grid amplifiers. The extra valve's duty is to change automatically the grid bias of the high-frequency amplifying valves so that the signal is always brought up or kept down to a desired level of strength.

A second kind of robot set will be of particular interest to battery users. One of the great drawbacks of the wonderful pentode valve in the past was the large amount of high-tension current that it required. By a stroke of sheer genius an extra valve is made to control the pentode.

When the set is switched on, but no station is coming in, the extra valve applies such a strong negative bias to the pentode that the high-tension current is cut down to nothing.

situated in the distant corners of the Reich.

It is proposed either to limit regional option in regard to the broadcasting of news by abolishing the local watch-committees or, alternatively, to increase the central government's subsidy, over and above that of the federal State in question, and buy out private shareholders entirely.

Since it is agreed that at present all political parties should be allowed to broadcast their opinions, save the Communists, arrangements are being made for German Communists to broadcast over the Leningrad transmitter.

TARZAN IS COMING

TRADE BETWEEN NEW ZEALAND AND FAR EAST

HONG KONG BUSINESS MAN IN CHRISTCHURCH N.Z.

GREAT POSSIBILITIES FOR TINNED GOODS IN CHINA.

We have received the following article from "The Press" of Christchurch, New Zealand. Hong Kong people will read with interest, and approve, Mr. A. McKirdy's vigorous sentiments:

That if New Zealand producers would take more notice of Chinese requirements, and label their goods in as attractive a fashion as the Canadian and American exporters, they would find a ready market awaiting them in the East, was the opinion expressed by Mr. A. McKirdy, a Hong Kong business man, in the course of a chat with "The Press".

Mr. McKirdy is spending a few weeks of leisure in New Zealand, visiting old friends, but while in Wellington he met members of a syndicate who purpose opening up a tinned goods business with Hong Kong and Shanghai, and he intends to give them all the assistance possible.

Mr. McKirdy retired from active business some years ago, and now he obtains his business interest and the excitement he deems necessary from an occasional speculation on the stock markets. He has spent 30 years in business in Hong Kong and is well qualified to speak of the prospects of New Zealand trade in that city.

Dominion Representation.

"During my recent stay in Wellington I was interviewed by representatives of a syndicate known as the Eastern Trade Development Company, which purposes opening up offices in Hong Kong and Shanghai," said Mr. McKirdy. "It looks as if they mean business, and their intention is to export tinned meat and fruits, butter, and other things. I have been over the big stores in Hong Kong, and, while I saw large quantities of Australian and American tinned goods, there appeared to be nothing from New Zealand. There is no reason why New Zealand should not be represented. The American and Canadian labels are very attractive, and it only remains for New Zealand to fall into line in this respect."

"Actually New Zealand seems to be waking up to the fact that there are great possibilities in China for her tinned goods. From what I have seen, the Dominion has an excellent opportunity awaiting it in Hong Kong and Shanghai," he said.

Australia and China.

The natives of China were the hardest working natives in the world, said Mr. McKirdy, and their word was their bond. For Hong Kong he has the greatest admiration, and the pride in the city of his adoption has not diminished since he retired from the sugar refinery trade there. The question of Hong Kong as a likely market for New Zealand goods was well worthy of investigation, he said. On the way to Australia he travelled with two Australian business men who had been in Hong Kong for the purpose of developing trade there, and they had made what they considered a very good connexion in the city. One man, who dealt in flour, was well satisfied with the result of his trip, and was of opinion that good business would be done, provided his firm would make certain alterations to suit the new consumers. For instance, the Chinese liked to have his flour marked with the characters of his own language.

Shipping Difficulties.

One difficulty which the Australians met on their trip was that of shipping, there not being, at the time, sufficient tonnage to carry all the goods that Australia could export to China. Again, if the Chinese and Japanese were to come to a complete agreement, Japanese goods would come back into the Chinese market, and the Japanese could undersell anyone else on account of

COTTON DISPUTE CONFERENCE

EMPLOYERS AND MEN MEET.

(BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.)

Rugby, Sept. 13.

At a Conference of employers and employees of the Lancashire cotton industry to-day Mr. F. W. Leggett, Conciliation Officer of the Ministry of Labour, who presided, gave a detailed explanation of the letter addressed to both sides several days ago by Sir Henry Betterton, Minister of Labour.

The Conference appointed a committee of five representatives from each side to draw up a plan of procedure, and adjourned till to-morrow, leaving a sub-committee of reinstatement and is expected to present a report to-morrow.

It is understood that the sub-committee discussed the question of reinstatement and is expected to present a report to-morrow.

RS. 300,000.00 IN 4 HOURS.

AMAZING RUSH FOR INDIAN 5 PER CENT. LOAN.

Calcutta, Aug. 18.—Four hours after opening the new Government of India 5 per cent. loan closed yesterday afternoon, the subscriptions then totalling Rs. 300,000,000 or Rs. 50,000,000 more than the amount the Government required.

At all branches of the Imperial Bank there was a rush for applications to subscribe, and in Calcutta the offices of the bank were besieged from 10.30 a.m., the time the loan opened.

Members of every community poured into the bank brandishing application forms. A good number of women were to be seen in the crowd.

IMMIGRATION TO MANCHURIA.

500 JAPANESE TO BE SENT AS EXPERIMENT.

Mukden, Aug. 31.—As a first experiment the Overseas Ministry is planning to send some 500 Japanese immigrants to Manchuria shortly, each immigrant to receive a Government subsidy amounting to about ¥500. In case the experiment proves successful, dispatch of immigrants on a larger scale will be carried out, it is reported.

Because Manchuria is not still absolutely safe, attacked occasionally by bandits, the immigrants to be chosen will be restricted to ex-service men who can live and work in groups. According to Secretary Nagai of the Overseas Ministry, who is here, a site for the immigrants' farms has been chosen in a south-eastern section of Kirin, where the soil has been found fertile.

The immigrants will produce beans, kaoliang and millet, and will also engage in cattle raising the secretary said.

"Gentlemen's Agreement" is the phrase of the moment. Begun by the income tax drive earlier this year, its popularity has been sealed by its use to describe the Lausanne Pact, so that to-day wages can scarcely utter a couple of sentences without dragging it in.

A few months ago everybody was "seeking a formula," and before that, for a time few men could so much as go out to lunch without announcing with mock solemnity that they were "declaring a moratorium" for an hour.

Apparently, politics now give birth to the catch-phrases which used to be invented by music-hall comedians and their lyric writers, which seems to show either that we take our politics less seriously or that our variety stage has lost its prestige.

OVERHAUL OF EQUIPMENT.

New York, Aug. 8.—While the thirsty cry of millions of Americans is being raised for the return of beer, the brewers of the U.S.A. are said to be "girding up their loins" in case light wines and beer should be legalised in the not too distant future.

The New York Evening Post recently surveyed the situation from the brewers' angle, and reports that industry's magnates are ready to spend four or five million pounds on equipment, are enlarging the derelict breweries of by-gone days and overhauling the fittings in preparation for the great event.

With the return of beer, says the paper, an overnight rush of orders for millions of dollars worth of new brewing equipment, cereals, bottles, motor lorries, etc., is expected to turn this dormant business into one of the most prosperous in the country.

Increased Payrolls.

Not only will payrolls be increased, breweries enlarged and new equipment installed, but some brewers are already said to have placed orders with manufacturers for additional equipment to be delivered the moment legalisation is effected.

Among half a dozen leading brewers, it is estimated that about twenty million dollars worth in equipment will be bought within a week after beer is legalised.

For example, Mr. August A. (Continued on next Column.)

AMUNDSEN RELICS FOUND.

A NEW EXPEDITION TO THE ANTARCTIC.

Moscow, Aug. 31.—An expedition to the Antarctic is being planned by Captain Riiser-Larsen who was a member of several of Amundsen's expeditions. He hopes to leave shortly for the Antarctic where the party will spend the winter but his arrangement are not yet complete.

Interesting relics, including two notes in the handwriting of the explorer Amundsen and his companion Sverdrup have been found by the icebreaker Russanoff engaged on an expedition to Cape Cheluskin which was a station used by Amundsen's expedition in 1919. Amundsen's note stated that the expedition was forced to winter there. A post twelve feet high marking the station was also found.

Busch, President of Anheuser-Busch brewing company, is quoted as having announced that he "would immediately require additional material and equipment costing seven million dollars."

Jacob Rupprecht, a leading figure among New York brewers, declares that he would immediately give 600 to 1,000 men permanent work and would spend five million dollars on improvement in his breweries in Manhattan.

More Employment.

Wisconsin brewers are said to have reported that they would expend several millions for additional equipment and that added expenditures for supplies and labour would total 3,000,000 dollars.

A leading brewer estimates that during the first year of beer's return American breweries would spend approximately 24,000,000 for payrolls and other expenses.

He added that "There are about 60 industries which will receive orders for rush equipment. It is safe to estimate that brewers and malsters will employ half a million men, including allied accessories trades and transportation. I now employ 300 where I would employ 1,000 to 1,200 when beer is legalised. I plan to build the most magnificent brewery plant the world has ever seen."

STUFFED FLANK STEAK.

Among the less tender, and therefore less expensive cuts of beef, which are best cooked slowly, are flank steak and either top or bottom round. A savory stuffing adds new flavour, making a stuffed and braised flank or round an interesting variation from the more usual ways of serving these cuts. If a part is left over, it will be good sliced cold.

Flank steaks vary in weight. The larger the flank steak the better for stuffing. Do not let the butcher score a flank steak that is to be stuffed. Roll it from the side, not the end, so that the meat will be cut across the grain in carving.

In selecting round steak for stuffing and braising, see that it is cut from the portion where muscles are large and relatively few in number. It is best when cut $\frac{1}{2}$ inch to $\frac{3}{4}$ inch thick. The stuffing given below will be equally good for either round or flank steak.

A flank steak, 1 onion, minced.
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cups stale bread crumbs, 1 cup chopped celery.
1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons butter or beef drippings.
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon pepper.

Wipe the meat with a damp cloth. For the stuffing, brown the celery and the onion lightly in the fat and combine with the other ingredients. Spread the stuffing over the steak. Beginning at one side of the steak, roll it up like a jelly roll, and tie securely in several places with clean string. Sear in a small quantity of fat in a heavy skillet or a baking pan on top of the stove, and turn the meat frequently until browned on all sides. Slip a rack under the meat in the pan, cover closely, and cook in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 1½ hours, or until tender. When the meat is done, remove from the pan and prepare gravy as follows: Drain off the fat. For each cup of gravy wanted, measure 2 tablespoons of fat and return to the pan, add $\frac{1}{2}$ to 2 tablespoons of flour and stir until well blended and slightly browned. Then add 1 cup of cold water or milk and stir until smooth. Season with salt and pepper. Serve the stuffed steak with browned potatoes.

JELLIED VEGETABLE SALAD

The jellied salad described is a combination of different vegetables in a binder of lemon flavored gelatin. The small individual moulds make the salad places especially attractive, but a ring or other fancy single mould might be used if the salad is served from a platter. While the blend of flavours selected is exceptionally good, other vegetables could be added or substituted, and the gelatin mixture could be made of meat stock stiffened with plain gelatin.

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup lemon jelly powder, 1 cup cooked green peas, fresh or canned.
2 cups boiling water, 1 cup diced kidney beans.
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup diced celery, 1 teaspoon salt.

Dissolve the jelly powder in the boiling water and set aside to chill. When the mixture begins to stiffen, add remaining ingredients. Mix carefully so as not to break the vegetables. Turn into small individual wet moulds, or a single mould, and chill. Remove to a bed of lettuce or endive. Garnish with mayonnaise dressing.

If prepared lemon-flavored gelatin is not available, make a pint of lemon jelly by mixing 1 tablespoon of plain gelatin with a half cup of cold water, then dissolving in $\frac{1}{2}$ cups of boiling water. When cool add 2 tablespoons lemon juice. In very warm weather add an additional half-tablespoon of gelatin.

VEGETABLE LOAF.

3 lbs. melted butter or other fat
2 cups soft bread crumbs
1 cup chopped cooked celery
1 cup diced carrots
1 cup cooked or canned peas, or string beans
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup chopped nuts
4 lbs. liquid from cooked vegetables
2 eggs, beaten
1 tsp. salt
Pepper

Mix the fat with the bread crumbs, and reserve about one-fourth cup for the outside of the loaf. Mix together all the ingredients, form into a loaf on a sheet of greased paper, cover the surface with the crumbs, place on a rack in an uncovered pan, and bake in a moderate oven for 30 minutes. The loaf should then be hot through and the crumbs golden brown. Serve with tomato sauce.

EGGS FOR ANY MEAL

Eggs may be served at any meal and in a variety of ways. Probably no other single article of food can be utilized in a greater number of dishes. Whether alone or with ham or bacon, or in omelets, soufflés, or croquettes, eggs may appear in the main dish of any meal. Many quick breads, cakes, salad dressings, sauces, desserts, and beverages not only taste better and look more attractive when made with a liberal proportion of eggs, but they are also higher in food value. In whatever way they are served, eggs are a good source of efficient protein and some of the minerals and vitamins needed for building the body and keeping it healthy.

The secret of success in cooking eggs and dishes in which eggs predominate, is to cook slowly at moderate even heat.

For soft-cooked eggs or for hard-cooked eggs with tender whites, start the eggs in cold water to cover, supported on a rack. Heat the water gradually to simmering, but do not let it boil. Boiling temperature toughens white of egg. The temperature of the water should not be allowed to go higher than 183° F. For soft-cooked eggs, remove from the fire when the water simmers (or is 183° F.), cover the pan, and let stand for a few minutes. The length of time required must be found by experience. The number of eggs cooked at a time, the size of the pan, and the quantity and temperature of the water all affect the rate at which eggs cook. For hard-cooked eggs, continue the cooking over a low fire for 30 minutes after the water simmers, and keep it below boiling.

To poach eggs, break them into boiling salted water to cover in a shallow pan, and immediately remove from the fire. Cover and let stand for about five minutes. Remove the eggs carefully with a perforated spoon.

To fry eggs, break them into a moderately hot pan containing bacon or other fat, and cook over a low fire. If the eggs are to be cooked over the top, dip up the hot fat with a spoon and pour it over the yolks until a cooking is formed. Or, if preferred, turn the eggs carefully and cook them on both sides.

For shirred or baked eggs, break them into a shallow buttered baking dish or ramekin, dot with butter, and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Place the dish in a pan of water and bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) until the whites of the eggs are set.

CURRIED EGGS.

6 eggs, 1 teaspoon curry.
4 tablespoons butter or other fat, 1 teaspoon salt.
1 tablespoon chopped green pepper, 3 drops Tabasco sauce.
2 tablespoons chopped onion, 2 cups milk.
2 tablespoons chopped celery, 3 cups cooked rice.

Cook the eggs hard. Make a sauce as follows: Melt the fat in a skillet, add the green pepper, onion and celery and cook for 2 or 3 minutes. Stir into this the seasoning and the flour, mix well, and add the cold milk. Cook for 3 or 4 minutes, stirring constantly. Make a bed of the hot flaky cooked rice on a hot platter. Arrange over it the hard-cooked eggs, cut in quarters, and pour the hot sauce over the eggs and rice. Sprinkle the top with chopped parsley, and serve at once.

BAKED EGGS AND CHEESE

Break the desired number of eggs in a shallow, greased baking dish, add a few tablespoons of cream and salt enough to season, and sprinkle with a mixture of grated cheese and fine dry bread crumbs. Set this dish in a pan containing hot water and bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) until the eggs are set and the crumbs are brown. Just before serving add a few dashes of paprika.

EGGS BENEDICT

Toast slices of bread, or split and toast English muffins. Place on each piece of toast a thin slice of cooked ham or crisp cooked bacon, and on top of this a poached egg. Cover with hot Hollandaise sauce and serve at once.

OUR CONTINUED STORY A FARMYARD DEBATE.

Quite a crowd had gathered in the farmyard. There was Mouse, squeaking out that he didn't, he didn't, he didn't run up the creek. There were the Three Little Kittens, stoutly declaring that they had not lost their mittens. There was Little Pig, squealing at the top of his voice that he had never gone to market in all his life. There was Spider, who flatly denied that he had ever, at any time, frightened Miss Muffet. Last of all, there was Black Sheep, who was a close friend of Little Boy Blue.

"Little Boy Blue," he told them, "is not under the haystack fast asleep. Come and see for yourselves."

So all of them—Dish, Cat, Cow, Dog, Black Hen, Cock, Ladybird, Gossie Gander, Mouse, Three Little Kittens, Little Pig, Spider, and Black Sheep set off for the meadow.

"We might sing, 'Hippety-Hip-Hop' as we go," suggested Cat, "only, of course, that's wrong, too, for we are not going to the Barber Shop and if we were it wouldn't be to buy candy!"

All working together, pushing, tugging, pulling and hoisting, they finally managed to lift the haystack high enough to look under it.

"Now you can see for yourselves," said Black Sheep. "Boy Blue isn't under there. He never was under that haystack or any other."

No telling how the affair might have ended had they not stopped to rest beneath the oak tree on their way home. Old Owl sat on a low branch, enjoying the evening air.

"What's going on?" he questioned. "What are you all talking about?"

Up spoke Black Hen. "They say we do things that we don't do!"

"Who?" asked Old Owl.

"Everybody," just everybody. They even put it in books!" barked

KEY TO YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE.

Here is the answer to yesterday's Missing Letters Puzzle: Pots, Spot, Stop, Post.

MY FAVOURITE COLOUR.

GREY

Boys and girls, if you like Grey, You will famous be one day! You don't mind being on your own, You find lots to do alone. You are clever and could be Good at sums and chemistry. Of friends you have but one or two But those you have are good and true.

AN INTERNATIONAL MARK.

"On cases of goods from foreign countries, one may notice a rough outline of a globe. This does not signify that the contents are wine glasses, though the uninitiated very often, and naturally, conclude that it does."

It proclaims upon which side the package should be placed; the proper side being the one which runs parallel with the base of the globe. This sign is universally understood by all who handle the packages, and it is much more effective than the "This side up" notice which, when written in the language of one country, might not be deciphered by the receivers in another. The idea has been in use for some time and works well.

Dog. "Well," said Old Owl, "suppose they do. Didn't you ever read what is said of me? There was an owl lived in an oak. Winky, wacky, weedle; And every word he ever spoke Was fiddle, faddle, feedle. Now did any of you ever hear hear me say anything of the sort?" (To be continued)

FISH TALES

Fish Are Valuable as Low Cost Food.

Like other animal foods, fish is rich in protein. It is rich also in minerals, especially in phosphorus. Saltwater fish and shellfish are rich in iodine, which is another substance required by the human body in regions where the soil, and consequently the drinking water, and vegetables grown in that soil, are poor in iodine. The iodine content of saltwater fish is important.

According to nutritionists of the U.S. Bureau of Fisheries, "some kinds of fish, notably cod, salmon, haddock, and sea herring, have been found to be good sources of vitamins A and D. It is well to use the oil in a can of salmon for sauce or in salad dressing, if possible, to obtain the full vitamin value."

Because of its high food value, and comparatively little waste, it pays to watch the market for bargains in fish. Fresh fish bargains are likely to be a matter of locality and season. For example, the shad come up the Atlantic coastal rivers in the spring. Atlantic salmon are caught in New England rivers in early spring. At the same time the boats and nets are out for lake trout in the Great Lakes, for mackerel along the Middle Atlantic Coast, and for Pacific salmon on the West Coast. Other fish are most plentiful in the fall or winter.

Some of the best bargains in fishery products, however, are all-year fish from both fresh and salt water that are shipped, fresh, or fresh-frozen, to different parts of the world. Fresh haddock, mackerel, halibut, salmon, fresh cod, and various other fishes from the Atlantic and Pacific are frozen and shipped to many distant markets, as well as lake herring and blue and yellow pike from the lakes. Frozen fish, it should be remembered, are fresh fish.

Canned sardines, canned pink salmon, kippered herring, salt cod, cod flakes, canned herring roe, and other canned and cured fish are all good and nutritious, and usually low in price.

FISH BAKED IN MILK.

Sometimes the leaner fish, such as halibut, or haddock, seem a little dry after cooking in the usual ways. To avoid this, and also to enrich the dish by adding milk, the following recipe is recommended. The sliced onion enhances the flavour for most persons. If desired, evaporated milk, reconstituted in the usual way, may be used, or dried milk.

1½ pounds had- 1 large onion dock or other sliced very lean fish. thin.
Salt. 2 cup crushed
Pepper. crackers or 1 tablespoon bread crumbs.
flour. 1½ cups milk.

Clean and wipe the fish a damp cloth. Cut in pieces for serving and sprinkle with salt, pepper, and flour. Put the pieces of fish in a single layer in a shallow greased baking pan. Cover the fish with the onion and then sprinkle with the crushed crackers or bread crumbs. Add sufficient milk barely to cover. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) from 45 to 60 minutes. If the crackers or crumbs do not brown in that time, put the dish under the flame of the broiling oven.

ASSASSINATION OF GEN. CHANG TSUNG CHANG

PLEA FOR CLEMENCY FOR PRISONER

Taiwan, Sept. 9.—Interviewed with regard to the assassination of the late General Chang Tsung Chang, General Han Fu Chu, Chairman of the Shantung Provincial Government, states that the Provincial Authorities have no power to pardon Cheng Chi Cheng, the man who fired the fatal shot, as has been requested by a number of prominent military leaders, including Generals Yen Hsi Shan, Feng Yu Hsiang, Shang Chon and others as well as the families of many persons who had been killed by the former Shantung Tapan. The case will be handed over to the Court for trial as soon as instructions are received from the Central Government or as soon as the deceased's family brings suit against the assassin at the District Court.

General Han Fu Chu pointed out that the assassination was unexpected. When a high Government official is on a visit here, the local authorities would accord special protection, but the deceased being a private citizen on a private visit, there was no particular reason to extend special protection to him. Immediately following the unhappy incident, General Han received messages from General Chang Hsueh Liang and General Wan Fu Lin inquiring about the real facts of the case.

Supporting the plea for clemency for the prisoner, the Shantung Provincial Party Headquarters has petitioned the Central Executive Committee to instruct the Shantung Provincial Government, through the National Government, to grant a special pardon to Cheng Chi Cheng. The message pointed out that Chang Tsung Chang not only despoiled Shantung and the country as a whole but was the chief instigator of the assassination of the late General Chen Chi Mei, former Governor of Shanghai in 1913.

Meanwhile, Cheng Chi Cheng is kept under detention and is strictly guarded.—Kuo Min.

DIRECTION OF VOLUNTEERS

NEW HEADQUARTERS TO BE ESTABLISHED

Peiping, Sept. 9.—To facilitate the direction of the Volunteers outside the Great Wall, a Commander-in-Chief's Headquarters of the Volunteers will shortly be established, it is learnt.

In anticipation of the Volunteer attack on Shenyang (Mukden) and along the so-called Mukden-Shanghai Railway, the Japanese military have summoned 4,000 Japanese units, hitherto stationed at Ilung and Sifeng near the Liaoning-Kirin border, to strengthen the defences along the line. Heavy reinforcements are also arriving at Shenyang from Antung.

According to delayed messages, the Volunteers occupied Chingtu station on the Mukden-Shanghai Railway last Saturday. 49 Japanese soldiers were disarmed. Knosantse station on the same line was taken by Volunteers on the night of the 8th. Tahushan is in a critical condition.—Kuo Min.

SUPPRESSION OF POPPY GROWING

SEVERE MEASURES IN HUPEH

Hankow, Sept. 9.—Draconic measures for the suppression of opium in Hupeh have been drafted by the Hankow Pacification Headquarters, and sent to all military commanders and district magistrates of the province for rigid enforcement.

According to these measures, any person engaged in the cultivation of the opium-poppy should be ordered to desist immediately and to substitute the growing of cereals instead.

Severe punishment will be imposed on any military commander found to be secretly protecting and screening poppy growers as well as any district magistrate who either fails to report cases of opium cultivation or is negligent in suppressing the evil.—Kuo Min.

SITUATION AT AMOY

ANTI-JAPANESE MEASURES.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Amoy, Sept. 11.

The Anti-Japanese movement is gaining strength rapidly as a result of the Jehol situation. Boycott pickets organised by the Anti-Japanese Association are busy dealing with merchants who are buying and selling Japanese goods.

The Anti-Japanese Association at a meeting yesterday decided to inflict severe punishment on smugglers of Japanese goods. Various kinds of Anti-Japanese activity including demonstrations and a propaganda campaign are to be carried out.

North China. Following upon the receipt of the telegram, General Chang Hsueh Liang is said to have decided to fly to Hankow within the next few days. WUCHOW NOTES.

CHOLERA STILL A SERIOUS MENACE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Wuchow, Sept. 12

Three more cases of cholera have been reported this week. The patients are in a serious condition and are under treatment at the Municipal Hospital. Cholera is still a serious menace in this district and a large number of cases have been reported from Pinglok, Lachow and Nanning. At the two first named places 100 deaths and 60 deaths respectively were reported last week. Most of the cases are among the coolie and servant class. The authorities take a serious view of the epidemic and are urging people to be inoculated.

The Communist Menace.

In Tung Lan and Fungshan districts on the Paksik River above Nanning there are still bands of Communists and brigands. The garrisons in that district are doing the best they can but rival elements are still active. The matter has been reported to the Provincial Government and an urgent request for additional troops to be sent to that part of Kwangsi has been granted.

Drought Replaces Floods.

Around Pingman near the Tunglan and Fungshan districts wide stretches of land were flooded not long ago. Now the opposite has to be reported and the farmers are complaining of the drought, no rain having fallen for quite a long period. The cost of rice has been high as the crops have been badly affected by the drought and because additional soldiers have to be supplied with rice. The people of this part of the province are complaining bitterly of the hard times.

Student Attempts Suicide.

A scholar of the Kwangsi University, who failed in the examination held at Canton for entrance to the Changshan University, returned to Wuchow by the Kong Ning last week, and tried to commit suicide by jumping overboard. A boat was lowered with commendable smartness and he was picked up and handed over to the police.

DUE TO THE KING'S ON SUNDAY NEXT

"MISERY ALL OVER THE COUNTRY."

MR. JUSTICE MCGARDIE ON MOTOR CRASHERS.

"The misery, suffering and pain arising out of these motor accidents all over the country is enough to prevent you from sleeping at night," said Mr. Justice McGardie, summing up at Birmingham Assizes, in a claim for damages arising out of a collision between two motor cyclists in which one lost three fingers from one hand and had other injuries.

"I should love at times to compensate them all in spite of their negligence and recklessness, but you cannot do it. One's inclination here, in one way, would be towards the plaintiff, because of that hand which is tragic in its menace to the man's future.

"But sympathy cannot take the place of justice," he said. "I have seen a man in court who has lost both his arms and one of his legs and with half his face gone, and I have had to find against him because there is something higher than sympathy, and that is duty.

"Therefore, members of the jury, you have to make up your minds in fearlessness and resolution as to where the truth lies, and that truth lies not in sympathy, but in resolute adherence to justice."

After about 30 minutes' retirement the jury announced that they could not agree and they were discharged.

Plaintiff on Stretcher.

The plaintiff in an action for personal injuries at the same Assizes, a navy, was brought into court on a stretcher, which was placed across counsel's seat and from which he gave evidence.

He said that he met with his injuries when engaged in trench-digging, and was paralysed from the middle of the body downwards.

The Commissioner held that the action was ill-framed and failed in law, and a verdict was returned for the defendants.

SIAM'S NEW GOVERNMENT.

THE KING'S PRIVATE SECRETARIAT TRANSFERRED.

Bangkok, Sept. 3.—Yesterday the People's Assembly met for the 22nd time, at the Throne Hall, with Chao Phya Bijayanati presiding. Some sixty-one members were present and the proceedings lasted from 4 to 5.30 p.m.

Two resolutions were presented for the day and both were adopted. The first was a recommendation to abolish His Majesty's Private Secretariat as there is now no necessity for the same.

The Department will be abolished as soon as the notification appears in the Gazette. The Foreign section will be added to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs; the Rank and Privy Seal sections will be un-

A NEW EMPIRE 'PHONE.

LONDON-PRETORIA SERVICE.

SEVERAL CALLS PUT THROUGH.

A further link between Great Britain and the Empire was forged on Aug. 8 when a telephone service was opened between London and the districts around Pretoria and Johannesburg.

The service is to be officially inaugurated to-day, when Sir Kingsley Wood, the Postmaster-General, will exchange greetings with General Hertog, the Prime Minister of the Union, and the Postmaster General of South Africa.

Several personal and business calls were put through however. There was no delay in the service, which was stated to be satisfactory in every way, speech being perfectly clear and uninterrupted.

"It is just as easy to ring up a number in South Africa as it is to make a trunk call in this country," said a Post Office official to a representative of The Daily Telegraph. "All that is necessary is to ask for South African Trunks, and then the call is put through in the ordinary way."

The charge for the new service will be the same as to Cape Town—£3 for the first three minutes, and £2 for each additional minute.

No Time Limit.

There will be no time-limit to calls, except when other subscribers are waiting to be put through when the maximum time allowed will be six minutes, with the option of renewing the call later.

The new service is an extension to the service to Cape Town, which has been in existence since Feb. 1 this year.

Calls from this country will be carried by land line to the high-power wireless station at Rugby, and transmitted from there to Cape Town, where they will be picked up and conveyed to the new terminal points by land line.

The calls will have to pass over more than a thousand miles of land line in South Africa.

For some time past a telephone service to Tokyo has been under consideration. The whole matter rests in the hands of the Japanese administrators, and the Post Office is waiting for them to act.

der the Royal Household; and the other sections of the Department will go to the Secretary section of the People's Executive Committee. The second recommendation was to abolish some sections of the Amendment Act regarding Civil and Criminal Procedure of R. S. 120, namely, the regulations requiring that the King's permission must first be sought when members of the royal family or officials of rank or other privileged individuals are involved in law suits.

HEARING DEATH SENTENCE.

FINAL EPISODE OF REMARKABLE TRIAL.

TREMENDOUS PUBLIC INTEREST.

Cheng Kwok Yau, scion of a wealthy Chinese family, having been found guilty by the jury of the murder of George Fung, yesterday entered the dock for the last time, when his Lordship the Chief Justice pronounced sentence of death upon him.

Never within recent history of the Colony has a criminal attracted so much interest as did Cheng Kwok Yau yesterday. From an early hour, long before the doors of the court were open, a large crowd gained admission to the Court and despite the presence of a large force of police officers, it was a difficult task to keep the crowd back.

Over a thousand people were in Court half an hour before the time fixed by the Chief Justice for the proceedings, and a like number waited anxiously outside to glean news of how Cheng had behaved when sentence was passed.

In the great assembly in Court were Europeans and Chinese, men and women, in all walks and stations of life.

At five minutes to ten, Cheng Kwok Yau was led into the dock from the cells below the Court. He was preceded by a European and a Indian warder and followed by a European warder.

In his former appearances at the Supreme Court, Cheng never paid any attention to the great crowd which was always assembled there. But yesterday, he came up with a smile and after taking his seat, he afforded everyone a view of him by looking round the court, smiling all the time. When his eyes rested on an acquaintance he nodded and after he had had a good look at the crowd, he settled down in his seat.

Mr. D. L. Strellett, his solicitor spoke, to him, and Cheng conversed with him for a minute or so, still smiling all the while. Then Mr. R. C. H. Lim, junior counsel for the defence, spoke to him and he smiled and nodded.

Cheng was certainly undismayed by the fact that he was the object of interest to a thousand pair of eyes. Just before 10 o'clock he looked at the timepiece in Court, adjusted his tie (a black one incidentally, as he is in mourning for his grandmother) and awaited the arrival of the Judge. Then he fingered with the small moustache which has grown on his lips since his last appearance in Court and pulled out his handkerchief which he passed over his face.

When the Chief Justice had taken his seat, Cheng bowed respectfully in Chinese fashion, and in turn took his seat.

He looked steadily at the Judge when the latter, through his interpreter addressed the accused as follows:—

"Cheng Kwok Yau—There is no doubt that you are aware that your conviction was confirmed by the Full Court. (Here Cheng nodded). It is my duty to pronounce the sentence which the law provides for your crime. The sentence of the Court is that you be taken to the place whence you came and then to the scene of execution and to be there hanged by the neck until you are dead and that your body be taken to such place as the Governor may order. May the Lord have mercy on your soul."

Cheng bowed, respectfully, as he heard the sentence completed.

There was immediately a great stir in Court and when Mr. Lim stood up to address his Lordship, he could neither be heard by the judge or by any member of the Press. A sharp order for "Silence" rapped out by the usher of the Court abated the din momentarily, but as Mr. Lim proceeded to speak, the noise again rose to such heights that he could not be heard. Another order for "Silence" by the usher and Mr. Lim completed his statement to the Judge.

Mr. Lim's remarks were to the effect that he (Mr. Lim) together with a relative of the condemned man, would like to see the prisoner in the Court Library. His Lordship while readily granting permission to Mr. Lim, was not so sure that he had power to grant the same permission to the relative. (Continued at foot of next column.)

THEFT OF CLOTH FROM GODOWN.

COOLIE SENT TO GAOL.

Arraigned before Mr. J. A. Frazer at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday, three coolies were charged with the theft of 14 rolls of cloth, valued at $1,400, the property of the Kowloon Godown Company.

Inspector Elston, who prosecuted, told his Worship that the police received information at midnight on September 9 that someone had broken into the godowns.

When arrested, the first defendant said he was standing by the window to wait for the signal of the second and third defendants before lowering the rolls of cloth. The police went in search of these two men and found them about 200 yards away from the godowns. There was no evidence against them at all, except the word of the first defendant.

Enquiries made later revealed that the first defendant had hidden himself inside the godowns when the gates were closed, and during the night had opened two cases of cloth. He was ready to lower the cloth into the street when the police arrived.

The first defendant was sentenced to six months' hard labour and the other two were discharged.

L.M.S. TRAIN RECORD.

132½ MILES COVERED IN 133 MINUTES.

London, Aug. 4.—A remarkable achievement by the 5.25 p.m. express train from Liverpool to London, which since July 18 has held the record for the fastest schedule in Europe for a non-stop run of over 150 miles, is reported by the L.M.S. Railway.

The train left Crewe on Tuesday night six minutes late, but this was made up on the journey, the 132½ miles from Crewe to Willesden being covered in 133 minutes at an average speed of 67.28 miles per hour.

The train was drawn by an engine of the Royal Scot class driven by R. G. Hemley and stoked by G. Forrell, both of the Camden Town, London, Depot.

He asked if the Police had any objection and Mr. H. G. Sheldon, Counsel for the Crown indicated that the Police did not object.

Mr. Lim next asked his Lordship to grant a respite of three months, but his Lordship's reply was to the effect that he did not think he had power to grant that request and directed Mr. Lim to apply through other channels.

A large number of people stayed behind for a long time to get a last glimpse of Cheng on his way to and from the library while an equally large number waited in the vicinity of the Court to see Cheng being driven away in the prison van. These were kept at a distance by the Police, but ultimately Cheng appeared under a strong escort of warders and police officers and was driven off to the Victoria Gaol where he has been confined since April.

THE KOWLOON CRICKET CLUB.

ITS HISTORY AND RECORD IN LOCAL SPORT.

OFFICIAL OPENING OF NEW CLUB HOUSE ON SATURDAY.

We have received a most attractive and interesting brochure compiled by the Committee of the Kowloon Cricket Club, whose new and very spacious Club-house will be officially opened on Saturday by H.E. the Officer Administering the Government, Hon. Mr. W. T. Southern.

The brochure, which is excellently printed and illustrated, opens with a preface by Mr. R. E. Lindsell, the President of the Club, and contains a short history of the Club and a description of the new building.

PRESIDENT LOOKS BACK.

Mr. Lindsell states in his preface:—

Since I first made the acquaintance of the K.C.C. and some of its members in 1914, when I started to take part in the regular biennial golf matches between the U.S.R.C. and the K.C.C. on the King's Park Course, I have never had cause to revise the opinion I then formed, if I may express it now without blowing our trumpet too loudly, that for good fellowship the K.C.C. stood and stands unrivalled. It was owing to those famous inter-club golf matches and the equally famous tiffins that went with them that I was induced to join the K.C.C., of which I have now had the honour of being President for the past eight years. In those days the giants of the Club were Dr. C. Forsyth who served as its President for fourteen years up to 1924, A. O. Brown who served for many years as Secretary and with the assistance of C. W. Jeffries, H. E. Stevens, L. J. Blackburn and others helped to put the Club on a sound financial footing and amass the solid reserve which has helped us to build the new Club-house. On the tennis court we had "Sammy" Green, the Colony's Singles Champion for several years; on the Golf Course, the two "Long Macs," Mackenzie and McLennan, who at King's Park were practically unbeatable, nor must I forget Jimmy Mead, whose memory as a golfer and good sportsman is kept alive by the shield for which golf members of the Club can still compete yearly on the Kowloon Golf Club's Course; while indoors we had "the Knights of the Round Table" whose exploits are still commemorated in story and legend. Last, but not least, J. P. Robinson, Major (now Colonel) T. A. Robertson, Jack Stalker, A. C. Claxton, K. R. Macaskill and W. H. Stapleton and others upheld our honour on the cricket field, while both inside and outside the Club Dave Harvey was a tower of strength. The only disadvantage under which the Club then suffered and has suffered until now was the cramped nature of its quarters.

As one grows older one becomes perhaps too much inclined to dwell on the glories of the past and to fail to give full credit to the achievements of the present, but when I refer to the giants of the Club's past history I am not decrying the present. Our cricketers, bowlers and lawn tennis players still hold their own with the best in the Colony (forgive the trumpet once again), and our dart and domino experts are unrivalled, and what more striking proof of the courage and enterprise of our present members is wanted than their determination to carry through the scheme which, after being set on foot ten years ago and of necessity then abandoned, has now been successfully accomplished with the completion of our new Club-house.

RETROSPECT.

The Club was formed on October 8th, 1904. The Government allotted this ground to the Club in 1906 but it was not fit to play matches on and the members had to depend on the courtesy of other clubs at Happy Valley for the use of their grounds. The membership at that time was about seventy-five. The first president was Mr. J. Macgregor and the first captain Dr. J. H. Swann. The Club-house was a match shed erected at the north end of the ground.

In 1903 The South China Morning Post presented for competition a League Cricket Shield which has been won by this Club on five occasions, viz., 1905-6, 1906-7, 1921-2, 1928-9 and 1929-30. The Club's first League cricket match was played on the Paosee Cricket Club ground on October 17th, 1904, against the Army Ordnance Cricket Club and, although we lost the match, the K.C.C. played a very promising game.

The Children's Sports were inaugurated on New Year's Day, 1906, and have been an annual function ever since.

On January 18th, 1906, the foundation stone of the Club-house was laid by the then president, Mr. H. N. Mody, and the building, of which the architect was Mr. E. M. Haze-land and the cost about $4,000, was opened on July 11th, 1908, by His Excellency Sir Frederick Lugard.

Some time before June 1908, the A.A.A. laid a cinder track round the ground for the purpose of holding racing events, but the project did not fulfil the hopes of its promoters.

In June, 1908, a hockey team was formed with C. W. Jeffries as captain. The first match was played against the U.S.R.C. on June 29th, the U.S.R.C. winning by six goals to one.

In 1909 a Golf Section was formed and was very popular until the course was given up to make provision for other playing grounds. Tennis has been played since the Club's inception and S. E. Green held the championship for many years.

Lawn Bowls Section.

The Lawn Bowls Section was formed in 1918 and the Club has since won both the first and the second division of the League.

The Club competes annually at the Horticultural Show and has won many prizes for flowers and vegetables, the chief "Fa Wong" for many years being J. P. Robinson.

The Club not infrequently lends its grounds for athletic meetings and for the purpose of School and Services cricket.

On January 1st, 1918, the Club held an "Our Day's" fair in aid of war charities which resulted in the sum of £1,500 sterling being raised and forwarded to the Prince of Wales' Fund.

As from Armistice Day, 1922, the following sums have been raised yearly by means of auctions, etc., for Earl Haig's Fund:—1922, $602.50; 1923, $689.50; 1924, $2,360.35; 1925, $1,018; 1926, $380; 1927, $1,100; 1928, $1,316.25; 1929, $1,121.30; 1930, $806.25; and 1931, $1,340.

Dr. C. Forsyth was president of the Club from 1910 to 1923. Mr. R. E. Lindsell has filled this office since 1924, and Mr. Ezra Abraham that of Vice-President over the same period.

Club Captains.

The following gentlemen have filled the office of Captain of the Club:—

1907-1908, S. Lightfoot.
1908-1910, J. P. Robinson.
1910-1911, Major E. R. Chitty.
1911-1912, J. H. Mead.
1912-1913, W. L. Weaver.
1913-1914, J. P. Robinson.
1914-1915, Dr. C. Forsyth.
1915-1920, J. P. Robinson.
1920-1921, B. D. Evans.
1921-1924, J. P. Robinson.
1924-1925, H. Overy.
1925-1927, J. C. Lyl.
1927-1929, F. Goodwin.
1929-1930, W. Brace.
1930 to date, J. C. Lyl.

The present membership of the Club is about 314.

THE NEW BUILDING.

The new Club-house is situated at the N.W. corner of the Cricket Ground having entrance from Cox's Road and so placed as to allow of a carriage drive and formal garden or forecourt between the building and the road. A car park will also be provided.

This area, when properly completed and laid out, is capable of being formed into a very imposing approach to the Club.

In plan the building is L shaped; the heel of the L is however cut off by the walling forming the main entrance facade 88 ft. long, at the back of which are the administrative offices, the Entrance Hall, Social Rooms and the Social Hall on the main floor. Above is the Orchestra recess flanked on either side by open verandahs terminated by turrets containing small spare rooms.

As regards the architecture the building may be said to be of modern style with a classic renaissance motif.

The structure, although mainly of one story, has two basements under the main floor, situated at the extremity of either wing, the floor level being six inches or so above the level of the cricket ground. There is also a gallery along one side and one end of the Social Hall, which besides acting the usual part of such a feature serves as a means of access to the open verandah flanking either side of the Social Hall, the Scoring Box and the small rooms in the towers.

The materials used in the construction are, for the walls brick in lime and cement mortar with reinforced concrete columns to support the roofs over the Social Hall, annexes and verandah. The gallery in the Social Hall is of reinforced concrete.

All floors are of either cement or reinforced cement concrete. The flat roofs and the two water tanks on the turrets flanking either end of the entrance front from Cox's Road are also of reinforced cement concrete. The main roofs are supported on steel trusses.

The Social Hall.

Eaves gutters which also form the cornice are of reinforced concrete. Ceilings except that of the Social Hall are of "Simplex" plaster board, from the local factory, with hardwood supports and hardwood fillets over the joints. The Social Hall ceiling is of Colotex similarly supported and fixed. The joinery is of teak except in the basement.

Wood floor surfacings are of teak blocks laid in pitch over the cement concrete floor slabs, except that of the Social Hall which is of teak grooved and tongued boards. The main floor verandahs have floors surfaced with Minton Hollins English tiles. Other floors on this level are of terrazzo, as in the staircase to the gallery, except for the centre portions of the step treads which are of teak.

Flat roofs are covered with two courses of Canton square tiles over malthoid with an air space between malthoid and tiles.

Walls are finished externally in rough cast, except the main entrance facade and one or two other small features which are in Shanghai Plaster.

Internal wall surfaces are finished in ordinary plain plaster except in the Central Hall (where the walls are finished in panelled plaster-work) and the lower portion of the Bar Room which is panelled in teak to a height of 7 ft. All colourwash is of local materials.

In order to minimise the cost of upkeep and cleaning, ornamental work and mouldings, internally and externally, have been employed sparingly.

The Gallery.

A gallery, varying from 8 ft. to 4 ft. in width reached from the Entrance Hall on the main floor by a short stair, traverses one side and one end of the Social Hall.

Space 18 ft. by 15 ft. is provided at gallery level and over the Entrance Hall and Lobby for a Dance Orchestra.

Doors from the gallery lead out to the open verandahs or flat roofs, which should provide pleasant accommodation for members to watch games or enjoy the open air. (The supports for this verandah have been designed with sufficient strength to support a roof over the verandah.)

A Scoring Box 13 ft. by 12 ft. is placed in the centre of the verandah facing the Cricket Ground.

In the gable on the main roof above the Scoring Box is provided a space for a clock.

Between the Social Hall verandah and the Cricket Ground and in the reentrant angle formed by the wings of the building is a turfed terrace 20 ft. wide and 90 ft. long, formed at a level half way between cricket ground and Club-house floor level.

The Terrace.

The Club-house floor is twelve feet above the cricket ground and is reached therefrom by means of two short flights of steps traversing turfed banks above and below the terrace, the terrace intervening between the upper and lower flights.

Hot and cold water is laid on to showers and lavatories, the water being heated by an installation supplied by the Hong Kong and China Gas Co. who have also provided a service of pipes for the fire grates and cooking range.

Lighting, ventilation and bell services have been installed throughout the building by Messrs. William C. Jock & Co., Ltd.

Refrigeration is provided for the bar by Messrs. Dodwell & Co., Ltd., who have also supplied steel lockers for the dressing room.

Sanitary fittings have been supplied by Messrs. Wing On Co. and the dust system installed by the Duro Pump Co.

The furniture has been supplied by the Hong Kong and Whampoa Dock Co., Ltd., by whom also the new bar, which is the bar from the old pavilion with a new piece added, has been installed.

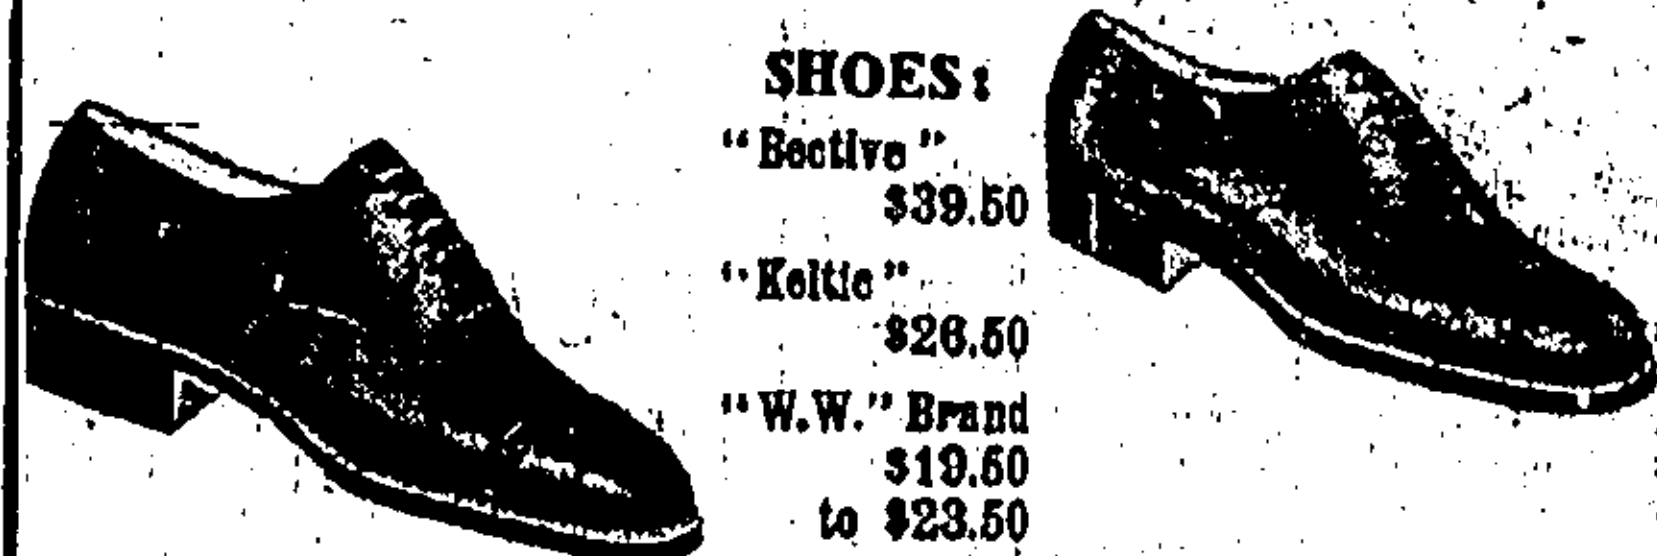

The Billiard Tables and accessories have been supplied by Messrs. W. R. Loxley & Co.

This description would not be complete without mention of the two foundation stones built into the walling of the central facade at either side of the main entrance, one recording particulars of the commencement of the new building, the other being the old stone which has been removed from the pavilion that is now being replaced.

THE MAHATMA FASTS.

BRITISH people for many years have had a deep feeling of respect and affection for Mr. GANDHI, no matter how much they might disagree with his political aims and methods. The Mahatma has proved himself a man of superb courage, ability and sincerity in action. In an age when public life seems to bring solid and often excessive rewards the example of a man who will accept no material benefit is salutary. Because of these things Mr. GANDHI is accepted as a man of genuine holiness, in his country's acceptance of that term. Most men and women who make such claims, either directly or tacitly, are often on the evidence of their personal conduct, entitled to little or no respect. Moreover, Mr. GANDHI accepts the British tradition of not making political differences a personal matter. He is always on good terms with his opponents from Viceroy and Cabinet Ministers to the wardens responsible for the safe-keeping in goal. No Englishman would claim to understand Mr. GANDHI, but Mr. GANDHI does understand us, and appreciates both our virtues and our limitations. It will therefore be a matter of the greatest concern if any ill should befall him as a result of his resolve to starve himself to death for what seems to be a curious and inadequate reason.

There is a growing belief that Mr. GANDHI may have become a very tragic figure. Not in his imprisonment, for to one of his way of life—incarceration deprives him of little, but because he may have found that the forces which he hoped to enlist for the furtherance of his own aims have proved too strong for him and have deflected him from his own purpose.

The symbol of GANDHI's philosophy was the hand-spinning wheel, or, in other words, a rejection of modern industrialism. Mr.

GANDHI wished to see his country return to the simple life; to the way of quietness and contemplation, with a minimum of personal needs and property. He wanted neither factories nor commerce, with their extremes of wealth and poverty. He wished to re-create the legendary Golden Age of India, when all had enough for their simple needs, when no extremes of caste afflicted humanity, when purdah and child marriage were unknown, when culture flourished and India was great in the manner that ancient Greece was great. At first he took the view that, at least for a long time to come, the British raj was beneficial. "They make just judges and good administrators." Then he began to see that the British raj inevitably allowed and encouraged industrialism. Therefore he allied himself with the political movements directed against the Government. These movements, it is suggested, are impelled by several motives, of which nationalism is not the most important. The industrialists resent the restrictions imposed by British rule. They consider factory laws unnecessary and indeed crippling. They believe that they could develop their own, and their country's wealth, much more rapidly and satisfactorily if they had full political control. Thus they find in GANDHI an ally in a programme of unrestricted nationalism. But Mr. GANDHI wishes to destroy British rule because it protects industrialism, while they wish to end it because it restricts industrialism.

Mr. GANDHI may also find himself at cross-purposes with Hinduism. The High Caste Brahmin, like a French nobleman, considers the tasks of politics and administration beneath him. It is work for rougher and less sensitive minds. The Brahmin found, in the old days, that the British were more satisfactory than their predecessors, especially in their appreciation of a Brahmin's position, and their anxiety to respect religious susceptibilities. But British rule, by a logical process of development, has set in motion forces that are incompatible with the continuing of Hinduism in its present form. Foundations are being sapped. Education is making the lower castes dissatisfied, and the many ramifications of the women's movement are uprooting the position which Brahminism has decreed for women. It may be agreed that women are being largely used in the anti-British agitation, but the question arises as to how far that is a passing phase. When India is once more under Hindu rule then it will be time enough to reverse what has been done by the British rule and during the campaign for their overthrow.

Mr. GANDHI's action towards the depressed classes seems harsh and unreasonable, and one of the leaders has denounced him. We wonder if Mr. GANDHI is satisfied with the wealthy interests that support Congress? If he feels that he has converted the Brahmin priesthood to genuine acceptance of a wide emancipation of India's womanhood? If he thinks he is really able to do anything for the outcasts? If he imagines that he is any nearer to his cherished dream of a settlement of the communal strife between Hindu and Muslim? Does he suspect that many interests have used him, while he, despite all his power over the masses and the women of India, has not made the slightest impression on the great forces of a progressive industrialism and a stabilised religious system? Does he wish to fast to death in the belief that his work is done?

Queen Victoria's Fears.

Royal journeys are undertaken to-day with less elaborate precautions than were insisted upon by Queen Victoria. She was always apprehensive of long railway journeys and when going to Balmoral invariably gave instructions that the train should not travel at a greater speed than 25 m.p.h., and that a safety-man should be stationed at every half-mile along the whole track from London to Balmoral at the time the Royal train was passing.

Hence, it is not surprising to relate, the cost of Her Majesty's annual journeys to Balmoral totalled about $25,000 a year.

Beware of the Steam Roller!

"The record of to-day is the commercial speed of to-morrow," says Sir Alan Cobham.

It should be, of course, and very possibly would be, if commerce was not required to have a bureaucratic walking in front of it with a red flag.

Diaries as Sign of Rank.

How thoroughly the French Government is tackling the Herculean task of balancing the Budget is indicated in a circular issued to the offices of the various departments to-day by the Minister for the Budget, M. Palmade.

"I have recently," he says, "had to sign contracts for calendars, diaries, and jottings for the staff of the Central Administration. Examination of the orders shows that certain ministerial offices make purchases obviously beyond their means. Orders for such requisites must be cut down to what is essential."

The Minister directs that diaries with one page for each day shall be reserved for principal officials or their direct deputies, while officials of somewhat lower rank must be content with diaries with two days on each page.

Airplane for $275.

British engineering, is on the eve of a new triumph after months of experiment. It is about to produce an airplane which will do for aviation what the postwar cheap car has done for motoring.

The production model, will be a two-seater low-wing monoplane with a petrol consumption of over 100 miles to the gallon, and will sell to the public at about $275.

A special form of trailer is also being made, in which the machine can be towed behind an ordinary car to any convenient field for taking off.

Reductions.

To Singapore Municipal officials, compelled by force of circumstances to accept less pay for their services, it may come as some small consolation to learn that they are not alone in misfortune. The movement to make Municipalities cost less seem to be general in the East, and from towns very similar in circumstances to Singapore comes news of cuts in pay and allowances. In Colombo, for example, an agitation is on foot to obtain relief for ratepayers strikingly similar to that launched by the Singapore Ratepayers' Association.—Straits Times.

U.S. Giant Flying-Boat.

A flying-boat which, it is claimed, will be the second largest in the world—larger than the new British Air Ministry machine and second only to the German Do. X—is being built at Buffalo for the United States Navy.

It will have a wing span of 100ft. Described as an experimental craft for long-distance patrol and heavy bombing work, it will be ready for its trials this month.

There are three flying-boats with a greater wing-span than that of the new United States craft, so presumably the claim is based either on measurements not yet disclosed or on weight.

The second largest craft at present is the new Short flying-boat built at Rochester for the British Air Ministry. It has a wing-span of 120ft. and its all-on load is 70,000lb.

COLOMBO FLOOD SCHEMES.

ENGINEER'S "PAPER" MAY LEAD TO LAW SUIT.

Colombo, August 15.—The Ceylon Daily News understands that further interesting developments are likely in regard to the "controversy" occasioned by the recent sudden suppression by the Ceylon Engineering Association Committee of Mr. J. T. Muirhead's thesis on the Colombo Flood Protection Schemes, after the paper had been printed.

It is understood that Mr. Muirhead, in resigning from the Association, made repeated requests for the return of all original manuscripts and data in connection with his paper, including the various criticisms in support of the paper written at the author's personal request by Messrs. Brown, Lynn, Harward, Hillman, etc., and other civil engineering experts.

Mr. Muirhead has also requested the surrender of all copies of the paper and relevant data already printed by the Engineering Association of Ceylon—these being claimed as the author's copyright and the paper and relevant data being the property of the Institution of Civil Engineers, London, from whom permission to reproduce it had to be obtained.

It is gathered that the Committee of the Engineering Association definitely refused to accede to the above requests with the result that the author has been compelled to institute legal proceedings to obtain the return of his property.

On the surrender of the paper and relevant data by the Ceylon Engineering Association it is understood that the complete thesis, together with the supporting criticisms of various civil engineering experts, will be placed in the public interests if and as they may think fit.

Further developments in this connection are awaited with interest. Mr. D. J. Wimalasundera, member for Ratnapura, has already given notice of a question asking the Minister of Agriculture to take steps to have Mr. Muirhead's report published as a Sessional Paper.

Mr. James Muirhead, who was appointed an Irrigation Engineer in 1929, is the author of a book of essays recently published in England entitled "Without Prejudice."

DUMPING JAPANESE GOODS IN CEYLON.

EXTRA 35 PER CENT. IMPORT TARIFF SUGGESTED.

Columbo, Aug. 26.—The Ceylon Daily News understands that an official proposal to impose an additional tariff, amounting to 35 per cent. on all Japanese goods imported into Ceylon was placed yesterday before the Executive Committee of Labour, Industry and Commerce.

It was urged in support of the proposal that there was considerable dumping of Japanese goods, chiefly cotton goods, which it was desirable to discourage and that the imposition recommended would ultimately become necessary under the impending Imperial Preference Scheme.

A Blow to the Poor.

It is understood certain members of the Executive Committee expressed the view that any restriction of Japanese trade in Ceylon would be a blow struck at the poor. Japanese competition with other manufacturing countries placing cheap cotton goods in the local market.

The Executive Committee ultimately decided that the proposal should be considered in connection with the Imperial Preference Scheme, the principle of which the State Council had already approved.

The proposal to adopt the additional imposition immediately was pressed to a division and lost, only one member voting for it.

MYSTERY MEETING AT 10, DOWNING ST.

MUTUAL INTERESTS OF U.S. AND BRITAIN DISCUSSED

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, Sept. 14. "A MYSTERY Discussion" which includes references to Britain's war debt to the United States, was held yesterday at No. 10, Downing Street, according to the Daily Herald.

There has been considerable speculation regarding Britain's proposals when the next instalment falls due on December 15. There have been no reports from reparations or war debts to Britain, but it has been suggested that Britain is desirous of meeting her obligations.

The Daily Herald says that yesterday's discussion dealt largely with this problem and adds that it was held at the invitation of the Prime Minister "to discuss questions of mutual interest to the two countries."

The Prime Minister and Sir John Simon represented Great Britain and the American Ambassador, Mr. Andrew Mellon, and Senator Reed represented the United States.

No Political Significance.

It is authoritatively stated that the Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, Mr. Mellon and Mr. Reed meeting, yesterday, was purely friendly and had no political significance. As far as is known neither debts nor reparations were discussed.

A BLOODLESS REVOLUTION

PRESIDENT DAVILA PEACEFULLY RESIGNS

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

SANTIAGO, Sept. 14. CHILE has just undergone another revolution carried out swiftly and without bloodshed yesterday.

Armed forces, under the leadership of Air-Commandant Merino, issued an ultimatum to President Davila threatening to bomb the Presidential Palace if he had not resigned by four o'clock in the afternoon.

The ultimatum alleged, among other things, that President Davila's policies had deviated from true Socialism to the detriment of the poor and needy.

There were no disturbances, for Davila, who was formerly Chilean Ambassador in Washington, quietly complied with the ultimatum and resigned.

It is reported that he has taken refuge in the American Embassy.

Air-Commandant Merino has established a temporary government, with General Blanco, commander-in-chief of the Army as Acting President.

ANGLICAN CHURCH'S LOSS IN CANADA

ROYAL COMMISSION TO INVESTIGATE

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

WINNIPEG, Sept. 13. THE sensational revelations of huge losses sustained by university and religious trust funds in Manitoba and Rupert's Land, followed by the arrest of Mr. John Machray, highly-respected lawyer and official, are to become the subject of an enquiry by a Royal Commission.

The announcement was made today by Mr. Bracken, the Provincial Prime Minister, who said that the Royal Commission is now in process of formation.

Its task will be to enquire searchingly into the disappearance of over a million dollars of the Endowment Funds of the University of Manitoba while under the Administration of Mr. Machray.

It is alleged that he embezzled at least $800,000 gold of the endowment funds of the University of Manitoba, and it is believed that he had much to do with the huge losses suffered by the Anglican Church in the Diocese of Rupert's Land.

Bishopric Vacant.

The Committee of the Anglican Church is now arranging an exhaustive enquiry in respect of its loss of upwards of $81,000,000 from the church funds under Machray's administration, in consequence of which the election of a Bishop to the vacant See of Athabasca has been indefinitely postponed as it is impossible to guarantee the payment of the salary.

Mr. John Machray who besides being chairman of the Board of Governors and Bursar of the University of Manitoba, was also Chancellor of the Anglican Diocese of Rupert's Land.

He was too ill to appear in court, when the case came on and bail was granted in the sum of $820,000.

GERMAN POLITICAL STRIKE

ELECTION CAMPAIGN ALREADY BEGUN

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

BERLIN, Sept. 13. BY common consent, the leading figures in the political controversy over the dramatic developments in the Reichstag yesterday, are allowing the matter to drop.

All their efforts are now being concentrated upon getting in "on the ground floor" with their electoral programmes, ready for the next election, which will probably be called for November next.

The Socialists have already issued their first appeal to the country, the Radical parties are content with oiling their machinery, while the Nazis are not so much concerned with drafting their election manifesto as with hastening the date of the contest.

Von Papen Stays Away.

Captain von Papen, the Chancellor, has further affronted those who demand the upholding of the dignity of Parliament by failing to appear before either of the two standing Committees of the Reichstag.

They can do very little about the matter in the circumstances and have been reduced to protesting to President Hindenburg, who, however, has given the Chancellor more or less carte blanche in his handling of the situation.

The Committees concerned have drafted a resolution charging the government with a breach of the Constitution.

Under the Constitution, the Chancellor will be compelled to order new elections on or before November 6. It is thought that he will hold them back until the last possible date.

HITLER TO "FIGHT TO A FINISH"

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

BERLIN, Sept. 14. A frigid exchange of letters between Captain Goering, the Nazi Speaker of the Reichstag, and President von Hindenburg, has followed Captain von Papen's non-appearance before the standing Committees.

Captain Goering, in a letter lacking all forms of politeness, protests against the Chancellor's attitude towards the Committee for Safeguarding the Rights of Parliament, in making his appearance subject to certain conditions.

The President's reply, which is couched in terms similarly abrupt, fully supports the Chancellor and says that the conflict would not have arisen if Captain Goering had allowed the Chancellor to address the Reichstag.

President Hindenburg adds that the Committee will appear before the Reichstag, and only if, Captain Goering will recognise as legal the situation as created by the Dis-solution Decree.

The Chancellor, Captain von Papen, in the meantime, has written to the Chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee, declining to attend as long as the Speaker's attitude that "the Government has been overthrown" is maintained.

Hitler's Plans.

Hitler, at a meeting of the Nazi leaders, indicated that he was preparing to fight to a finish "with and for the people against this reactionary clique."

HITLER'S LACK OF TACT.

Berlin, Sept. 8.—A very painful impression has been made in political quarters, the Press and the public in general by Herr Hitler's pointed reference to President von Hindenburg's great age in the course of a speech made by the National Socialist leader in Munich on Wednesday night, when he declared that he had plenty of time to wait for his assumption of complete control over German affairs as death could not be far off for Pres. von Hindenburg. The Duessel-dorfer Allgemeine Zeitung, which until recently strongly supported Herr Hitler, voices the general opinion in referring to the National Socialist leader's utterances as most deplorable as showing a lack of tact and, besides, ignoring the principle of veneration due to old age which, as the paper says, is one of the essential factors of society. Whether the rank and file of the National Socialist Party will approve of their leader's words, is according to this paper, very doubtful, inasmuch as of late Herr Hitler seems to think that his actions can be justified by what he regards as "the great destiny" to which he holds himself to be called.

Practically the whole Press with the exception of the National Socialist organs gives vent to a similar condemnation of Herr Hitler's tactless words though most of the papers express this opinion in much stronger terms than the Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung—Kuo Min.

GORGULOFF NO MORE

GUILLOTINED IN PARIS YESTERDAY

ASSASSIN OF M. DOUMER
PAYS SUPREME PENALTY

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

PARIS, Sept. 14. Gorguloff was guillotined at 5.52 a.m. to-day.

LATER.

Crying, "Russia is my country," Gorguloff was guillotined outside the Santé Prison.

The execution occupying seven seconds from the time of his leaving the prison van.

When he was told his appeal had failed, Gorguloff said: "I am not afraid, I die for my idea," after which Communism was administered. He then drank two glasses of rum.

No Respite.

PARIS, Sept. 13. Gorguloff, the assassin of M. Paul Doumer, President of France, will be executed at dawn tomorrow.

President Lebrun to-day refused to grant a reprieve despite the efforts of his advocates and of his wife, who has been making strenuous attempts to convince the authorities that Gorguloff is insane.

The condemned man will not be informed of the President's decision until half an hour before he is taken out to the guillotine when he will be awakened by a visit of the Public Prosecutor, his counsel and a priest with the traditional formula:

"Gorguloff, be brave. Your appeal has failed. Madame Gorguloff is shortly to become a mother."

WHEN SENTENCE WAS PRONOUNCED

WIFE'S TEARFUL PLEADING

It was on July 27, that the jury at the Paris Assize Court returned a verdict of guilty without extenuating circumstances.

This means that the plea of insanity was rejected. When he heard the words, "The accused is sentenced to be decapitated in a public place in Paris," Gorguloff, a tall heavily-built figure, maintained an impassive mien.

Asked to be Shot.

"You have condemned a good soldier of Russia," he cried in ringing tones.

"I demand to be shot as a soldier and not guillotined by the executioner," he said.

Wild scenes followed the pronouncement of the verdict.

Mme. Gorguloff, the assassin's wife, whose pathetic eleven-hour appeal for mercy for her husband had dominated the earlier stages of hearing, collapsed when the verdict was announced.

Mme. Gorguloff, a sobbing, grief-stricken woman in a faded black coat, had pleaded huskily for her husband's life.

"My husband greatly loved France," she said, her face lined with tears, a crumpled handkerchief, screwed in her hand.

"We went to a cinema shortly before this terrible event, and a portrait of President Doumer was shown on the screen. My husband applauded warmly, and told me of his admiration for the President."

"My husband is not a bad man. He has been good to me and I have been happy with him. What has been said about his treatment of me is untrue."

"Oh! Have pity! Have pity on me on my unborn child."

More than one person in court was in tears before her testimony was over.

"You Are Mad Paul."

When Mme. Gorguloff took her place in the box, Gorguloff leapt to his feet, his face working with emotion.

"Anno, forgive me," he cried, his hands outstretched.

"I was married in June last year," said his wife in a faint voice.

"During the fortnight before the tragedy his manner changed and his health seemed affected. He could not sleep at night."

At this point Gorguloff stood up and addressed the Court. "It is all a plot," he cried.

"You are mad, Paul, quite mad," replied his wife.

Earlier in the hearing, a police witness said that Gorguloff had been married four times. He had been described as a brutal husband.

"You may take my life," shouted (Continued on next column.)

It is understood that the Note repeats the suggestion made by Mr. de Valera in a speech two days ago, that pending arbitration, the annuities be placed in the custody of a third party such as the Bank for International Settlements.

IRISH LABOUR UP IN ARMS

AGAINST TAX ON IRISH FARM PRODUCE

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

DUBLIN, Sept. 14.

ANY doubts of the Irish Labour Party's attitude towards the Anglo-Irish tariff war have been resolved by a pronouncement made after a party meeting last night.

The statement says that the action of the British Government in levying a tax on Irish farm produce is a challenge to the Irish people on political as well as the economic issue.

The Irish Labour Party claims that the duties again raise the question of Ireland's subjugation or independence of Ireland's equality or subordination.

ed Gorguloff at this, "but you shall not dishonour me."

"Sentence Me to Death."

At the opening of the final day's hearing, Maitre Henri Geraud, for the defence, declared: "I want to save Gorguloff from the guillotine, because I feel in my conscience that he does not deserve it, but I shall ask that he be sent to a lunatic asylum for life."

Before the court retired to deliberate on this point, the presiding judge asked Gorguloff if he had anything to say.

"I call upon justice," he said, "to sentence me to death. The French Government has killed my political ideal and my party. I cannot live without them. I am nothing but a corpse."

The Public Prosecutor described Gorguloff as a "bogus doctor," a voluptuary, a socialist, an unwholesome bisexual and an emigrant spy.

UNITED STATES ELECTIONS

"DRYS" SCORE OVER "WETS" IN MAINE

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

PORTLAND, Maine, Sept. 14. THE Democrats "Wets" defeated the Republican "Drys" for the first time in eighteen years in an election for Governorship. The "barometer" state returns from a few constituencies are still awaited, but are regarded as most negligible and will not affect the issue. Mr. Brann, the Democratic candidate, will come out on top for Governorship by a small but safe majority, whilst two out of three Congressional districts have declared for the Democrats.

President Hoover has sent a message of disappointment to the Republicans insisting that the result "imposes a need for renewed and stronger efforts."

HUTCHINSON FAMILY RESCUED

LANDED SAFELY AT ANGMAGSALIK

[REUTER AND BRITISH WIRELESS.]

LONDON, Sept. 13.

THE anxiety felt for Mr. George Hutchinson, his wife and two children, and the crew of four of his amphibian aeroplane called "The Flying Family," was relieved to-day when a wireless message was received from Captain Watson, the master of the Aberdeen trawler Lord Talbot, announcing that he had located the Hutchinsons and was awaiting daylight to rescue them.

All were well, the message said, but the machine was smashed. The master and crew of the Lord Talbot have been engaged in a painstaking search of the Greenland coast near Angmagssalik since Sunday afternoon.

It was at one o'clock this morning when a signal from the "Flying Family" was observed, but a heavy swell made it impossible to effect the rescue in the dark.

The "Flying Family" was found at the lower end of Ikroavik Fiord, some fifty miles to the south of Angmagssalik, which is the headquarters of the British Arctic Air Survey Expedition, two of whose members had joined in the search by motorboat. The plane's wireless was out of action.

Intrepid Skipper.

The owners of the trawler had given Captain Watson, who is an intrepid and resourceful skipper, instructions to render every possible assistance in the search and to fall in with any wish expressed by Mr. Hutchinson.

The Lord Talbot is a vessel of 325 tons and one of the best-equipped trawlers in the Aberdeen fleet. After landing the Hutchinson family and crew safely, the trawler returned to the fishing grounds.

Hutchinson and his family and assistants were landed at Angmagssalik at 3.30 p.m. to-day.

JAPAN'S MOTIVE IN MANCHURIA

"RECOGNITION THE PRELIMINARY STEP TO AGGRESSION"

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

NANKING, Sept. 14.

THE official Government organ, the Central Daily News, to-day gives prominence to an article declaring that Japan's impending recognition of the Manchukuo Government is "the preliminary step in Japan's aggression in China."

The journal attributes to Japan three motives in extending recognition at this time, namely:

(1) To extend her military activities into Jehol, Mongolia and North China.

(2) To escape responsibility for the military invasion of Manchuria by recognising Manchukuo.

(3) To embarrass the League of Nations by attempting to make the Sino-Japanese dispute over Manchuria a closed affair when the Lytton Report is submitted to the League Council at the end of September.

NO NEWS IN LONDON.

LONDON, Sept. 14. No official information has yet been received in London with reference to the Japanese Emperor's sanction for the recognition of Manchukuo.

Official circles are, therefore, indisposed to comment on the situation as they feel the Lytton Commission was established because the Nine-Power Treaty signatories had insufficient information to deal with the question, therefore the Lytton Report cannot be anticipated.

FORMAL PROTEST TO THE LEAGUE

UNDECLARED WAR AGAINST CHINA

Nanking, Sept. 9.—That the Chinese delegation at Geneva be instructed to invoke Art. XVI of the League Covenant at the forthcoming session of the League Assembly is urged by the Shanghai Federation in Support of the League Covenant in identical telegrams despatched to the Central Executive Committee, the National Government and the Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

The telegram declares that Japan, flouting sacred international peace treaties, has, ever since September 18 last year, carried on an undeclared war against China. Although the League Council had, on more than one occasion, passed resolutions calling upon Japan to withdraw her troops from Manchuria and cease all acts of hostilities, such resolutions have been (Continued on next column.)

THE LYTTON REPORT

PUBLICATION PROBABLE IN MID-OCTOBER

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, Sept. 14. THE Lytton Report is expected at Geneva at the end of September. It will probably be published simultaneously at Shanghai, Geneva and Tokyo in mid-October.

OUTING FOR 500.

SEQUEL TO A WALK WEARING DUKE'S CORONET.

A party of 500 poor Camberwell children spent a day at Burnham Beeches as the result of a bet made by Mr. A. L. Bateman, Conservative M.P. for North Camberwell.

At the beginning of July he made a bet of £10 that on an afternoon of a day in the height of the London season the would walk from one end of Bond Street to the other wearing a duke's coronet.

He won the bet, and with the £10 he made arrangements to have a party of 100 children conveyed to Burnham Beeches, but he subsequently received more money as the result of publicity given to his action.

The result was that the party was increased to 500.

contemptuously ignored. In fact, her attitude has become increasingly aggressive and intransigent; she has lately decided to accord formal diplomatic recognition to the puppet state of her own creation. Unless effective sanctions are enforced to curb such flagrant violations of the League Covenant, not only China but the whole world would have to suffer the consequences of unbridled military aggressions.

Continuing, the telegram points out that the chief bulwark of international peace lies in international peace treaties. If such treaties are suffered to be scrapped with impunity, international disturbances would be inevitable.

The Federation, the telegram continues, has been formed on the basis of the principle of freedom of trade. Its one object is to effect complete severance of economic relations with Japan through peaceful means.

As there is no doubt that Japan's aggressions against China amount to an act of war as stipulated in Art. XVI of the League Covenant, the Chinese delegation at Geneva should be instructed to invoke that Article at the forthcoming session of the League Assembly so that economic sanctions may be enforced against Japan, the telegram states. —Kuo Min.

HOME CRICKET SEASON ENDS

FINAL BATTING AND BOWLING AVERAGES

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, Sept. 13.
THE brilliance of the county cricket champions, Yorkshire, was well demonstrated in the final match of the season, Champions v. Rest of England, which terminated to-day in a draw.

At the close of play, the Rest of England still required 84 runs to avoid an innings defeat and had lost four of their best wickets in their second innings, having been compelled to follow on.

Yorkshire compiled 270 runs on batting first, the most successful batsman being Mitchell, who contributed 97 to the total.

Bowles' Feat.

The Rest replied with 183, Bowles taking 7 for 65. In their second innings they made 109 for 4 wickets.

Bowles' feat in the Rest's first innings apparently decided the M.C.C. selectors about his inclusion in the team to visit Australia. It was officially announced last night that he had been invited to accompany the team which is sailing on Saturday.

LIST OF MEETINGS.

The following dates have been fixed by the Fanling Hunt and Race Club for Race Meetings to be held (Continued at foot of next column.)

LOCAL SOCCER.

HONG KONG INVITED TO SEND TEAM TO SHANGHAI.

PROPOSED MATCH IN NOVEMBER.

At a meeting of the Hong Kong Football Association on Tuesday evening, it was announced that an invitation had been received from the Shanghai Football Association inviting an Interport Soccer Eleven to be sent to Shanghai in November. The Shanghai Association also expressed their intention of sending a team to Hong Kong next February, whether or not the southern team visit the North in November.

The invitation will be fully discussed at next Tuesday's meeting.

The drawing of fixtures for the first two weeks of the League season took place but owing to odd numbers of entries being entered in the First and Second Division, one team will have to stand out each week.

The Navy representative intimated that their First Division team would be unable to participate in the first game of the season, while the Lincolnshire Regiment, who are due to arrive on October 3, will also be unable to play during the first week.

Season to Open on October 1.

The opening matches of the season will take place on October 1.

Regarding the question of grounds, the Chairman said that there would be eight grounds available, and owing to the heavy entries in the Leagues, it was necessary that some matches be played on Sundays. Mr. Hollands said that none of the Clubs seem to object to the Sunday games, and the proposal was agreed upon.

Those present at the meeting were, Messrs. G. W. May (Chairman), W. E. Hollands (Secretary), Major C. M. Manners, O.B.E., Captain Hayward, Capt. G. F. Fleetwood, Yeoman Jennings, Messrs. P. W. Gomer, G. Caswell, A. E. Scott, Mok Hing and P. C. Kwok.

was about 8,000, and the writer, who was officiating at the bout, has a very vivid remembrance of the striking tributes to the quality of the boxing made by a large number of the spectators.

It is hoped to discuss the programme for next season in a future article, and also the prospects for the season.

ARMY BOXING.

WHERE IT DIFFERS FROM THE CIVILIAN SPORT.

As already reported in these columns, a serious effort will be made, during the approaching season, to popularise purely amateur boxing in the Colony, and to this end voluntary boxing classes will be held at various centres.

Whilst the type of boxing taught in the Army is exactly what is taught in the various Amateur Clubs in Great Britain, the control of the various competitions and contests organised differs, in many respects.

All bouts in Army boxing are controlled by a Referee and two Judges, just as is done in bouts organised by the Amateur Boxing Association, to which the Army Boxing Association is affiliated. The duties of the Referee are, however, rather different. If he wishes to warn either one or both the contestants in a bout, he first of all says "Stop," the men cease boxing at once, and the referee delivers his warning as quickly as possible, i.e. "Red, you are holding with the left, and hitting with the right at the same time," he then says "Box on," and the bout goes on. This was introduced in 1914, and the advantages are obvious—it saves the danger, especially with novices, of one boxer stopping and listening to the referee, whilst the other is still hitting, and it gives an inexperienced man a chance of warning exactly on what way he is offending. It should be mentioned in connection with this, that all competitors in Army boxing wear distinctive coloured sashes, usually Red or Blue, and the Referee, instead of mentioning an offender by name, uses the colour of his sash in addressing him—this method has now been adopted very largely in Civilian Boxing.

Refereeing.

All bouts are refereed outside the ring, and no Army referee ever enters a ring to control a bout, whereas in civilian boxing one often sees referees step into the ring, especially when the contestants commence the awful practice of holding and hugging each other. If an Army boxer continues to hold after being warned, he is liable to be sent out of the ring, and as a matter of fact very few of them do any holding at all.

All competitions and contests organised by the Military must be refereed and judged by Officers, either serving or retired—this rule was introduced in 1911, and met with a very mixed reception from the Press of Great Britain. One paper actually referring to it as the "On parade type of refereeing." By the end of 1912, however, the majority of these newspapers were loud in their praises of this system, and actual experience proved that it had borne good fruit, fairs became practically non-existent, and the practice of holding during a contest became very rare.

It should be pointed out that every officer officiating at a bout must be "qualified," and in semi-finals and finals of competitions, only officers who have proved themselves in active participation in boxing may referee. The advantages, once again, are obvious—many units have to serve in foreign stations where there are either none, or very few, civilians qualified to referee, then again, the more active the interest an officer takes in a sport, the more keen will the men become.

No Money Prizes.

Money prizes are, of course, entirely "taboo"—all ranks are encouraged to box for the honour of their respective Regiments, and not for their own glory. Yearly competitions held are as under:—

Inter Unit Novices—all weights. Inter Unit Competition (open)—all weights. Enlisted Boys—Inter Unit (open). Individual Championships—Officers—all weights.

Individual Championships—Other Ranks—all weights. Individual—Championships—Enlisted Boys.

The semi-finals and finals of the Individual Championships are held at the Albert Hall, London, and attract huge crowds each year; in 1930, the first year the finals were held in this Hall, the attendance (Continued on previous column.)

ARMY TENNIS LEAGUE.

FINALS IN THE KOWLOON SECTION.

Quite a large crowd was present at the tennis final of Kowloon Section of the Military Area League, between the Hong Kong Singapore Brigade of Royal Artillery and "C" Company of Argyll & Sutherland Highlanders.

The H.K.S. Brigade won by 5 sets to 4, and are now the military champions in Kowloon. They are expected to meet the champion team in the Hong Kong Section very soon. In the meantime the H.K.S. Brigade will be presented with the Hong Kong Area Tennis Shield (Kowloon Section) and it is probable that each player will receive a miniature cup.

It is fairly evident from the results that without the aid of Capt. Barry and Sergt. Platt, the enemy must have surely won. These partners won their maximum of three sets and only relied on the others to get the two sets to win.

The results were as follows:—

Lieut. Mussen and B.Q.M.S. de la Haye (H.K.S.)
lost to C.S.M. Lochie and Pte. Hastie (A. & S.H.)	0-6
lost to Corp. Stewart and Pte. Campbell (A. & S.H.)	6-8

beat Cpl. Stewart and Pte. Campbell (A. & S.H.)	6-3

THE CANTON RIDE.

TO HOLD ANNUAL MEETING SOON.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

CANTON, Sept. 14.

According to a notice sent out to members, the annual general meeting of the Canton Ride will be held on Sunday, 25th inst. at the Tsungshan Garden Club (by kind permission) at 11 a.m. sharp. The business to come before the meeting will be for the purpose of:—

1. Receiving the report and accounts for the season ended August 31, 1932;
2. Electing a master and other members of the General Committee for the season 1932/1933; and
3. Transacting any other business brought before the meeting.

The notice reads as follows:—

CANTON CLUB.

"There will be Beer and a bite at 'Albatross Fort' on Sunday, 25th inst. at 9 a.m.

Start of riders at 8 a.m. sharp on Wampoa Road opposite Golf Course.

Motor-cars will be available at the start for non-riders and maifos. Return at 11 a.m. at the Tsungshan Garden Club for the general meeting. Instruct maifos to collect your ponies at the Tsungshan Garden Club.

Please turn-up in full force.

Committee's Report.

The committee's report for the activities during the past season is as follows:—

Members: The number of members at the close of last season was 30.

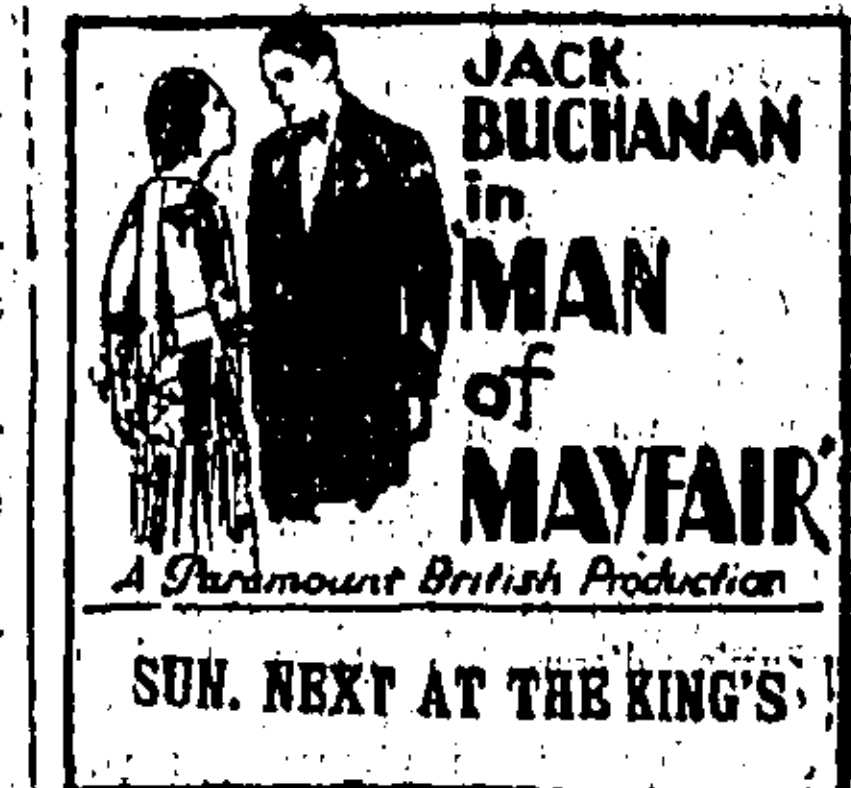

General Committee: At the last annual general meeting, the following members were elected to take charge of the Club affairs:—

Messrs. J. H. Ferguson (Master), H. Baist, Chen Mak Heung, Lo Ming Wan, G. Hardt (Treasurer) and M. Gavin (Secretary).

The finance of the club is reported as being satisfactory, but owing to the lack of facilities and support the club did not hold any competitive events during the year. It is hoped, however, that this year will find much improvement in that direction. From a reliable source, I learn that this body is going to act in conjunction with the Canton Riding Association which has a large course and grandstands, and which will sponsor all racing in the City.

Owing to the indisposition of Mr. R. Abbt, the ninth article on the "M.C.C." series will appear in tomorrow's issue of the Daily Press instead of to-day.

FAR AND WIDE.

Dr. John Lamond, the Spiritist writer and lecturer, died on July 10 at his London residence. He was 77. Dr. Lamond was a former minister of Greenisle Church, Edinburgh, and after his retirement became Chaplain to the Forces at Colchester.

"I have been a good wife to him, look how fat he is," said a woman at Kingston Police Court when she summoned her husband for alleged persistent cruelty. The case was adjourned for a month in the hope that the couple would be reconciled.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 7.—Representatives of the Tacoma Oriental Steamship company said to-day its ships will circle the entire rim of the Pacific under a schedule that has just been made effective, using Seattle as a turnabout port.

Sailing from here, six American freighters of the Dollar Line subsidiary will go to Japan and North China, return to Seattle, and on the following voyage call at South China ports and the Philippines, returning via Los Angeles.

Helsingfors, Finland, Sept. 8.—A bill granting amnesty to about 20,000 prisoners, mostly violators of the prohibition laws which recently were repealed, was introduced to-day in the parliament by the government to relieve the congestion in Finland's prisons.

Most of the prisoners affected, were unable to pay fines for offenses against the laws prohibiting the manufacture and sale of alcoholic beverages.

Finland had had prohibition since June 1, 1910, when it also went into effect in the United States, but the law was repealed at a plebiscite several months ago.

Santiago, Chile, Sept. 3.—The newspaper Ultimas Noticias reported to-day that foreign bankers here had signed an agreement to loan the Socialist government 150,000,000 pesos ($10,875,000).

Lakehurst, N. Y., Sept. 7.—A new experimental mooring mast for airships was nearing completion here to-day.

A novel feature of this giant "hitching post" is that it is telescopic.

When extended to its full height it is 160 feet tall, as tall as a 15 story office building.

The monthly publication of the National Bank of Australasia, according to a message from Melbourne, states that local confidence is improving. This is ascribed to the indications of a large production of wool, wheat, butter, frozen lamb and mutton, and other rural products, the added political stability which is the outcome of recent elections, stronger buying demand locally owing to the projected Government relief works, the reduction of unemployment, and the expectations that the Lausanne and Ottawa Conferences will prepare the way for better marketing conditions.

Washington, Sept. 8.—A new treaty between the United States and Haiti providing for the withdrawal of United States Marine officers from the Haitian national guard by 1935 and the early transfer to Haitians of the civil functions now performed by Americans was made public to-day by the State Department.

The agreement, which supercedes the treaty of 1915, has been placed before the Haitian congress for ratification. It provides for the withdrawal of the brigade of American Marines from the capital, Port au Prince, as soon as may prove to be practicable, after the complete Haitianization of the national guard. TARZAN IS COMING

The King of Afghanistan, Nadir Shah, is carrying forward his progressive policy in the country by decreeing the establishment of a National Afghan University in the new city of Darelmann, three miles from Kabul, the capital. Reuter learns that the King plans to dispatch to Europe an educational mission, which will pay special attention to education in England and France in order to obtain professors and fix the general lines of the curriculum.

A contract for the conveying, elevating, weighing, and discharging machinery for a new 2250,000 grain warehouse at Imperial Dock, Leith, has been placed by the Leith Dock Commission with Henry Simon, Ltd., Chesham Heath, near Manchester. The new warehouse, construction of which has just started, will have a capacity of 20,000 tons, and will rise 150 ft. above the quay level. The plant to be built at Chesham Heath will comprise elevators to raise the bulk grain to the top of the warehouse, distributing conveyors to convey it to the different silo compartments, a second series of conveyors and elevators to lift it again when required for delivery, and automatic weighing and discharging plant to release it to waiting lorries. The contract for the pneumatic ship-discharging plant and the quayside conveyors has been placed with Robert Boby, Bury St. Edmunds, and that for the reinforced concrete construction work with Stewart and Partners, London and Belfast. The new warehouse will replace old timber storage, burnt down in 1920.

It is as safe to travel by air as by car—such is the conclusion arrived at in the official report on French civil aviation for the past year. The number of accidents and forced landings caused by engine trouble has dropped from 36 per cent in 1929 to 16 per cent in 1931. The loss of life on all the French lines amounted to 0.6 per million passenger-kilometres, but when torjial and extra-European lines are excluded—lines on which flying conditions are particularly dangerous—the loss of life amounts to only 0.03 per million passenger-kilometres. Which shows that the risk of flying in Western Europe, at any rate, is almost infinitesimal.

"NIGHT COURT."

GRAFT EXPOSED AT THE QUEEN'S.

An interesting film, "Night Court," showing how corrupt an American judge can be, commenced its run at the Queen's Theatre yesterday. It is claimed for this film that it is a true story and one can only hope that judges of the type of "Judge Moffett" in the film no longer exist in any civilized country.

Dealing largely with life in the night tribunals of American cities, where the judges have plenty of opportunity to turn their profession into criminal pursuits, the film gives the spectator an opportunity to see how a night court operates.

Petty offenders pass in long parade before the judge and are given sentences far in excess of their crimes while hardened criminals are let off when a smooth-tongued lawyer appears before the judge in private with the necessary "bribe" to keep his clients out of trouble.

The story deals with a night court judge, who has to make frantic efforts to cover his trail of "graft" and in doing so he places his paramour in a cheap apartment next to that of a taxi driver, his wife and child.

The wife of the taxi-driver (Anita Page) accidentally comes upon evidence of the judge's methods and she is, in American colloquial, "framed." Her husband is "taken for a ride" and interesting developments follow.

The judge finds himself later faced with a serious charge and is compelled to tell the truth about the taxi-driver's wife before he can clear himself.

The story is not a very unusual one, but it has an appeal all its own and those who like stories of corruption and graft will find a big "kick" awaiting them in "Night Court."

"BUT THE FLESH IS WEAK."

NEXT CHANCE AT THE QUEEN'S.

A trade notice states:—
Robert Montgomery has turned over climber. True, he once played a convict in "The Big House," but even at that his fans hardly expected this. However, he does it and elicits many laughs thereby.

"But the Flesh is Weak," his new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture coming on Sunday to the Queen's Theatre.

He doesn't want to burglarize anything but love, however, so he climbs laughing ivy to a lady's window a la Mr. Shakespeare's Romeo. The only trouble is—the ivy won't hold and Bob is left up in the air.

This is one of the hilarious details in the new picture, based on Ivor Novello's London and New York stage hit, "The Truth Game."

Montgomery is seen as a debonaire young London fortune hunter who gets in trouble by falling in love with the wrong girl.

The complications grow fast and furious when a Russian prince comes on the scene as a claimant for the wrong girl's hand. But the wrong girl has the right cash book and our hero has a time of it.

"CARELESS LADY."

TO-DAY'S PICTURE AT THE KING'S.

A trade notice states:—
A distinctive comedy note is maintained throughout "Careless Lady," which is showing to-day at the King's Theatre. The plot is simple and so deftly handled as to make it quite real at all times. The heroine, discouraged by the lack of appreciation shown her by her small-town boy friends, decides to go abroad and acquire a fascinating French polish. She also takes the notion of posing as a married woman, after an experienced friend convinces her that wives have a much better time in Paris than maidens.

Unfortunately, the matrimonial alias she selects brings her an utterly unwanted "husband," who is intrigued by her having calmly adopted his name, and who battles valiantly and amusingly to protect that name from various adventures. Her frantic return to her home town is followed by the news of her "marriage" as well as by the arrival of her persistent spouse, who by this time wants her to take his name in a more conventional and legal fashion. The ensuing complications are delightful and hilarious, and offer a most enjoyable climax to the picture.

Joan Bennett is completely charming as the heroine and reveals a hitherto unsuspected ability as a comedienne, in addition to her customary dramatic talents. She has a wistful appeal. John Boles makes an ideal "husband" for her, and incidentally takes his splendid singing voice from its wrappings for a very effective and tuneful number.

"COMEDY SPECIAL."

HUMOUR AND THRILLS AT CENTRAL.

A trade notice states:—
The intangible team of Charlie Murray and George Sidney comes to the Central Theatre to-day in the Tiffany feature comedy "Caught Cheating."

The story, which is by W. Scott Darling, depicts the amazing and thrilling series of adventures that befall a man who is marked to be "put on the spot" by a gang leader who believes he is the sheik who has been cheating with his red-headed wife. The poor little man is as innocent as a babe, but nobody will believe him, especially his wife and the reports, who make a scare-head scandal of the affair.

This publicity brings to his office a wild Irishman who likes his women wild and likes men who like them that way, and he wants Sam to take him out and introduce him to all the wild women and the gangsters. Sam, a peace-loving soul, who is scared to death of the gangsters' threat, doesn't want to know it, but the Irishman has a contract to give out, and Sam who is bankrupt and whose life insurance has lapsed, wants to get it so he will have something to leave to his wife. He steps forth with Mac to a masked ball, hoping he can dodge bullets long enough to get Mac's contract.

What happens at the ball, where one masked playmate of the pair is no less than the gangster's wife, brings "Caught Cheating" to a hilarious climax.

"WINGS."

AT THE ORIENTAL.

A trade notice states:—
"Wings," the war aviation picture, which is now showing at the Oriental Theatre, celebrated the first anniversary of its New York run on August 12, with little slackening in the remarkable business which characterized its engagement. The picture continued in New York several months, after that date.

Figures in aviation were among the audience as anniversary guests of honour each night. Commander R. C. Byrd, who attended the presentation of "Wings" a year earlier, returned to see it a second time.

Only four motion pictures have run for a year on Broadway—the being "The Ten Commandments," "The Covered Wagon," "The Big Parade" and "Ben Hur." Analyzing the extraordinary record of "Wings," it was pointed out that during the year the Wellman-Saunders air epic was on Broadway, more than 11,000 persons were able to procure seats, paid $1.10 each to stand.

RUMOURED POST
FOR SIR MILES.

MENTIONED AS NEXT
PARIS AMBASSADOR.

London, Sept. 8.—Rumours persist that Sir Miles Lampson, British Minister to China, will be promoted to the Embassy in Paris in succession to Lord Tyrrell, but confirmation is not obtainable from the Foreign Office.

Sir Miles, now on leave in England, is expected to return to his China post at the end of the year. The reason given for his rather lengthy leave was that he had not been able to enjoy any home leave for five and a half years. He has had an arduous time during the recent periods of warfare and famine, and was especially active in bringing about the Sino-Japanese truce in Shanghai.

Lord Tyrrell is expected to retire about the end of the year. His replacement will be the subject of much speculation, and care will be exercised in finding his successor. Sir Miles is known to be in line for an ambassadorship, and his friends feel that he would prove a success in Paris.

LIFE IN A SIAMESE PRISON.

WARDEN WHO WAS
"ASKED" TO RESIGN.

Bangkok.—The Thai Num records a novel affair which it says occurred at the Bang Kwang goal on the morning of the 30th ult. It appears that one of the convicts, who is supposed to have made himself a leader where reforms in prison life are concerned, called a meeting of the rest of the convicts. He told them that they should not in future submit to any oppression on the part of the wardens and he enlarged on that subject. Eventually he laid hold of an assistant warden whom he produced before the meeting and said that this man had proved to be their veritable enemy. After enumerating various grievances he had against the individual in question the speaker wished to know what should be done with him. A voice said: "Let him resign." The convict leader then produced an application form asking to be removed from further service and handed it to the assistant warden, who willingly signed the same. The man was then made to discard his uniform, but no harm befell him. When the other wardens heard of the affair a report was sent down to the Minister of Interior, who promptly ordered an investigation.

"DECLARE ME A LUNATIC."

BOMBAY MAN'S NOVEL
APPLICATION.

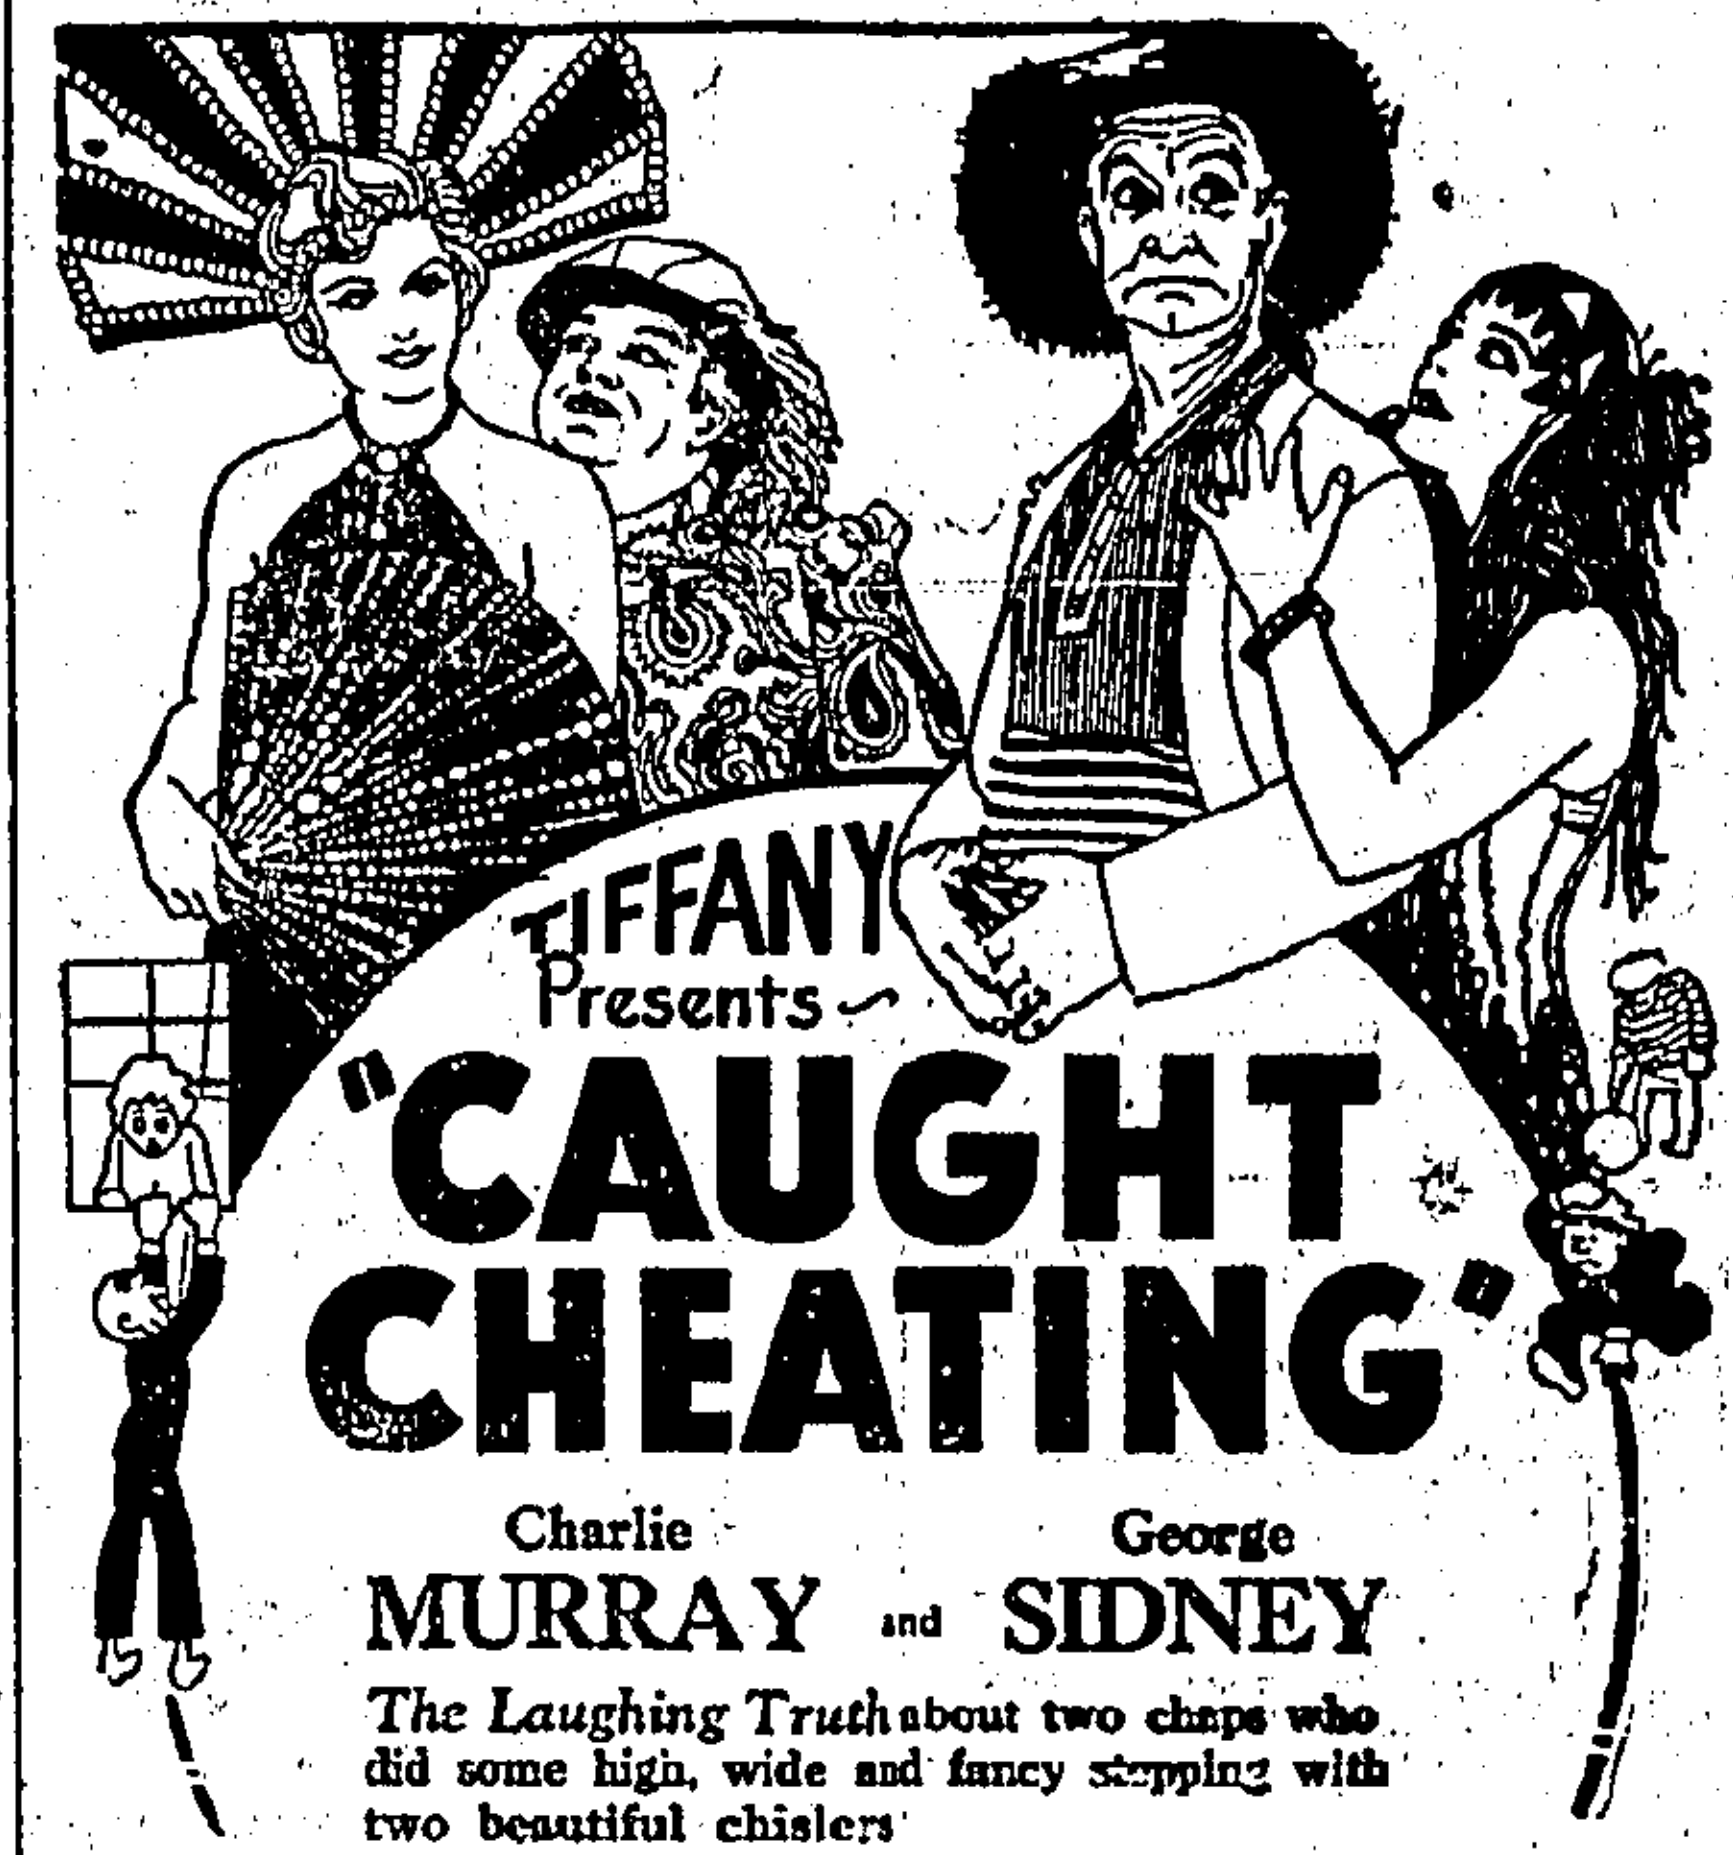

Bombay, Aug. 11.—G. K. Harkare presented a novel application before the Chief Presidency Magistrate to-day under the Lunacy Act, when he prayed that he be declared a lunatic. Harkare was both complainant and accused in a case and counter-case and in the course of his application stated he had been arrested in 1930 as a lunatic and detained at the Mental Hospital at Thana. The Magistrate, "You don't look like a lunatic," he declared. Harkare: "Certainly I do." The Magistrate rejected the application, saying he was not in a position to declare the applicant a lunatic.

New Play for Maurice Chevalier.

Gouverneur Morris was placed under contract by Paramount last week to write an original screen play for Maurice Chevalier. "The Pimp of Paris" will be the title of the new production and M. Chevalier will start work in it upon his return this Fall after his European vacation.

Shortage of Stars.

Apparently Wardour-street—the British part of it—is very much alarmed at the shortage of film stars, writes a Home critic. Last night I met Mr. W. J. O'Brien, an energetic young man who represents the interests of some thirty leading stage and screen stars, and he told me that they can hardly cope with the demands on their services made by British films. They are kept busy for 20 weeks at a time, going from picture to picture without any break worth speaking about.

About 60 per cent. of our film programmes are now British, another film man said, whereas two years ago the proportion was hardly ten per cent. And this month, I learnt, seventeen first-class talkies are being made simultaneously in London studios.

£300 a Week, or More.

With the demand, star salaries have risen to £300 and more a week—as high as Hollywood pays. "Productions are actually being held up through the lack of leading players," Mr. O'Brien told me. "I could do with a dozen more young leading ladies and a dozen men, and could keep them constantly employed," he said. "I mean people of star value, of course. There are plenty of young people capable of being made into stars, but the studios demand those whose names are already well-known. I get about five times as many offers for my best stars as they can accept."

Some of the Busy Ones.

"Stars such as Jack Buchanan, Jack Hulbert, Herbert Marshall, Edna Best, Harold Huth, Joan Barry, Gordon Harker, Betty Stockfield, Owen Nares, and my wife, Elizabeth Allan, can hardly find breathing space between films," Mr. O'Brien said.

"We have now reached the position when stage stars can safely afford to devote their careers entirely to the talkies."

Production Begun on Five New Talkies.

A big film push has begun at Elstree and five first-class British International productions have been put in hand. Sir Gerald du Maurier and Miss Gertrude Lawrence are to star in two of these pictures, "The Case of Lady Camber," which Alfred Hitchcock will direct. They will be supported by Miss Benita Hume, Mr. Nigel Bruce and other well-known players, whose contracts have not yet been settled.

Mr. Stanley Lupino has begun on a musical comedy, "Sleepless Nights," which he has written. The woman star will be Miss Polly Walker. Thomas Bentley directs, and music has been supplied by Noel Gay, the composer of "All the King's Horses."

Mr. Gene Gerrard is to act in a comedy, "Leave It To Psmith," Mr. Julian Ross, the Hebrew comedian will be in a comedy, "Magenta Street," directed by Norman Lee; and Mr. Bobby Hovers is to do a talkie of the play, "For the Love of Mike," in which he has been appearing. Monty Banks will direct this.

Director Dives Into Lake.

During the production of some scenes for the musical film, "The Maid of the Mountains," Lupino Lane, the director, dived into an ornamental lake in order to be with his actors who complained of the cold water in which they had to remain for several shots.
